Foreword

TO all who love Juniata, the Class of Nineteen Twenty-three offers its Alfarata. If it recalls to the Alumni pleasant memories of their past, if it acquaints strangers with the throb of Juniata's life, if it inspires those of the present with a deeper sense of their opportunities, we shall not have toiled in vain.

ALFARATA LEGEND

*Wild roved an Indian girl
Bright Alfarata;
Where sweep the waters of The Blue Juniata.*

Many, many years ago, before civilization had penetrated into the heart of these mountains, the Indians held this country as the happy hunting-ground of the earth. Black Cloud, their chieftain, was admired by all the tribes for his great strength and boldness. But even a greater admiration was held for his winsome Indian daughter, Alfarata. Her spirit was as brave as that of her father's, her body as lithe as that of a deer, her eyes sparkled like diamonds when the noon-day sun shone upon them, and her cheeks bore the blush of early dawn. Alfarata spent much time dreaming of the purity of the stream that flowed by her Indian lodge, of the greatness of the mountains, of the azure of the sky, and her heart was filled with the lure of romance.

One day, as was her custom, she struck out in her canoe and glided down the waters of the Blue Juniata. On and on she went until she realized that, by the position of the sun in the skies, it was time for her to return. Just as she was turning her canoe, she noticed the figure of a stranger on the bank. He was paler than anyone she had ever seen, but her heart thrilled at the thought of his beauty. The strangers gazed upon each other and slowly Alfarata answered the nod of greeting. Nearer to the shore the maiden drew and listened to the strange, thrilling story of this white adventurer. Departing, Alfarata reluctantly promised to return the next day, lured by the novelty of the experience and thrilled with romantic adventure.

Many dawns broke and every day, just as the sun was traveling toward the west, Alfarata and the stranger met. Beneath the shades of the great trees where the waters murmured softly the stranger whispered words of love to the Indian maid. Unconsciously the heart of the maid answered the call of the man just as naturally as the deer seeks the wholesome wild. Often the white man had urged Alfarata to leave her primitive home and go with him but she hesitated because of her father's command that she should marry one of her own tribe.

But as autumn drew near and the leaves turned to red and gold, the two hearts answered the call of love. One morning, before the sun had dimmed the stars, Alfarata carefully stole forth from the lodge to the secret call of her lover. She paddled noiselessly down the river and met the expectant one. All day long they turned bends of streams and glided on and on through peaceful valleys, and together they dreamed of the golden hours that awaited them. When the stars gleamed in the sky they stopped and near the shore built a camp-fire which was to be the only hearth they would ever know.

As they sat dreaming of all their joys, suddenly a war-cry sounded in the air. Instantly Alfarata knew that Black Cloud had followed and had discovered them. But nothing could daunt the young lovers. The bride clung to her young protector and as swiftly as the arrow sped through the air so swiftly the souls of these two escaped. The dying embers of the camp-fire alone were left; for the Goddess of Love had come to their aid. But always the spirit of these two lovers shall gleam in the stars of love and passion and shall ever guide those whom love calls through life's changing cloud and sunshine.

EX-GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA
AND PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF JUNIATA COLLEGE

WE, THE JUNIOR CLASS OF 1923, RESPECTFULLY
DEDICATE THIS ALFARATA

FOREWORD ODE

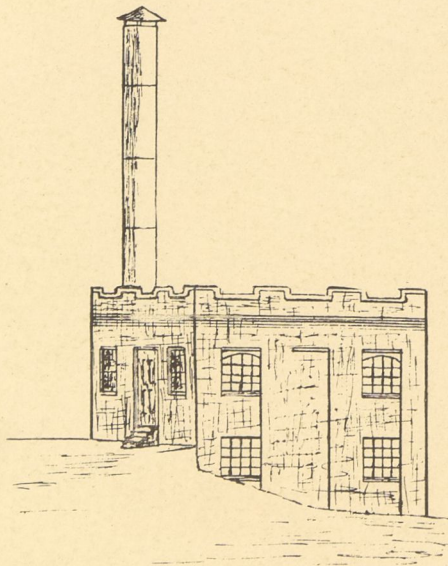

When the clouds all hide their silver lining
And your courage falls and keeps declining;
When the cares of this life seem twice as bad
And your thoughts are dreary—your heart is sad,
If though, as you scan these pages through,
Sweet thoughts of J. C. return to you,
At least we can say with a happy thought,
Surely our efforts have not been for naught.

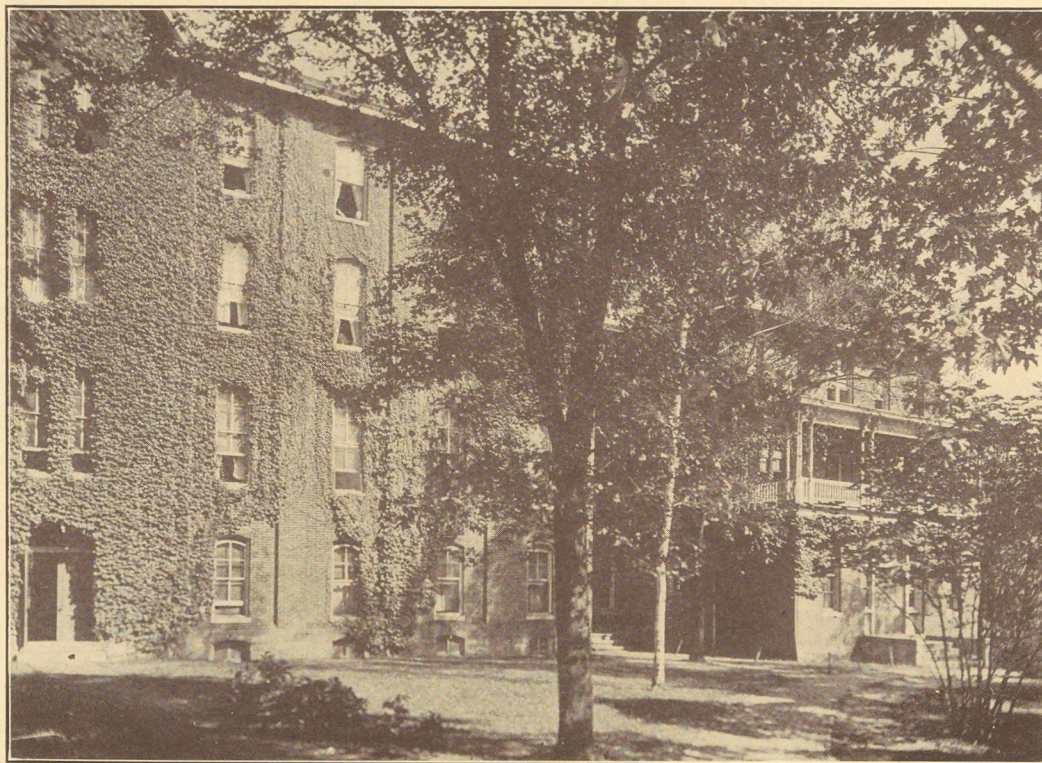

SCENES

CAMPUS VIEW

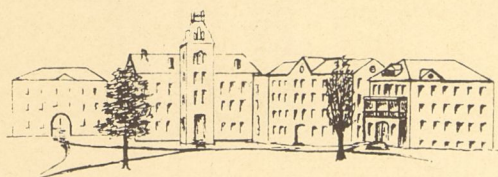

*The scene of many a romance
Again recalls to our mind
Those everlasting friendships
And the blessed ties that bind.*

LADIES AND ONEIDA

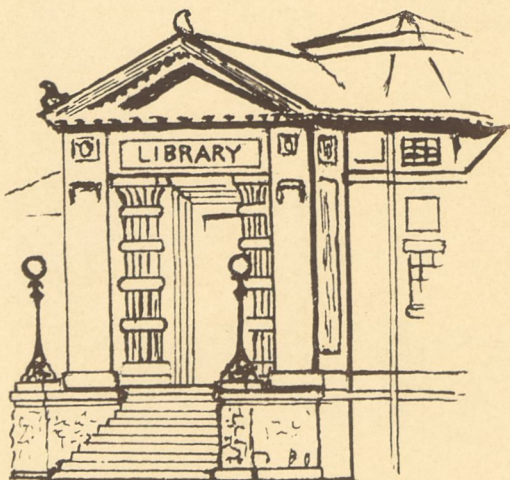

*Dear "Ladies"—fancy loves to roam
Thy memory-crowded halls,
And view thy ivy-smothered walls—
Our own best second home.*

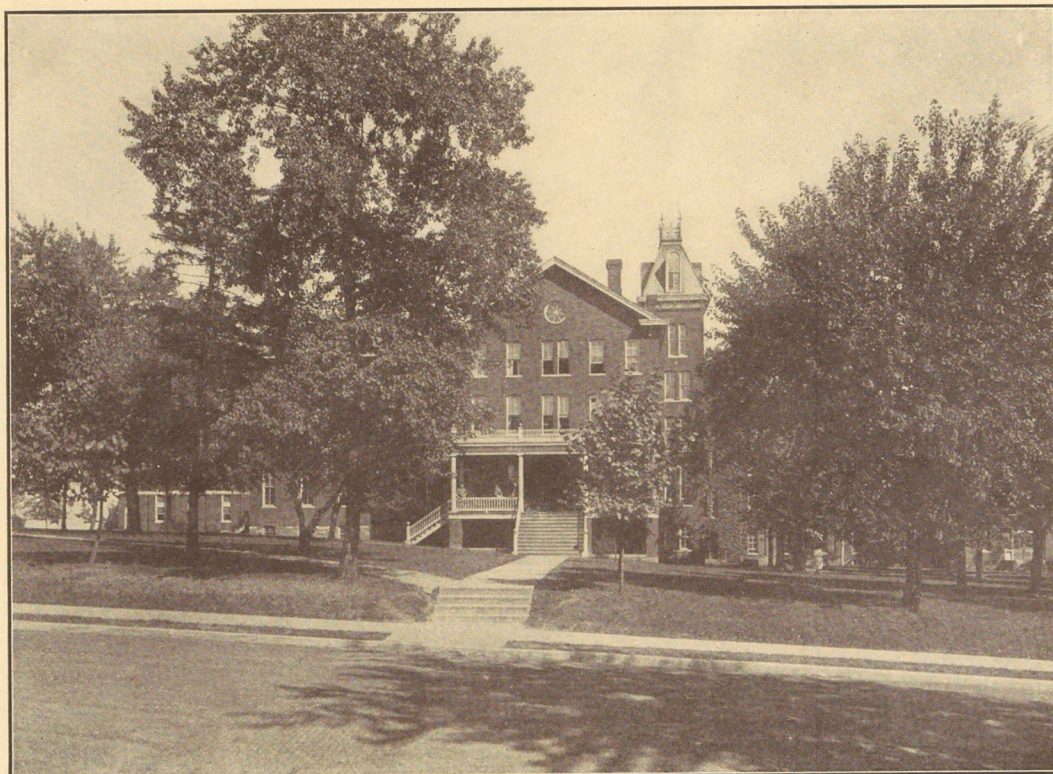

LIBRARY

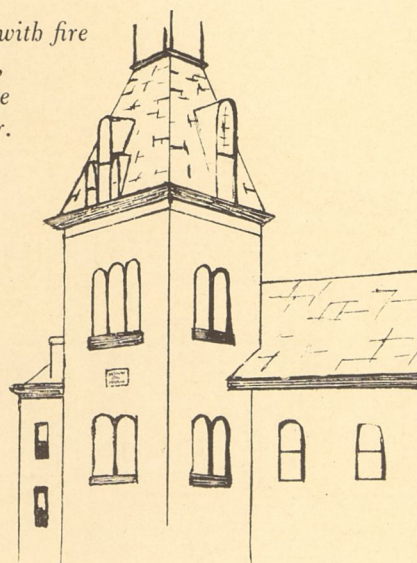

*O, place of comradeship with books! where we Allegiance pay to poet and to sage,
Bowed gently o'er our volumes, well content
To pay to "Silence" willing "seigniorage."*

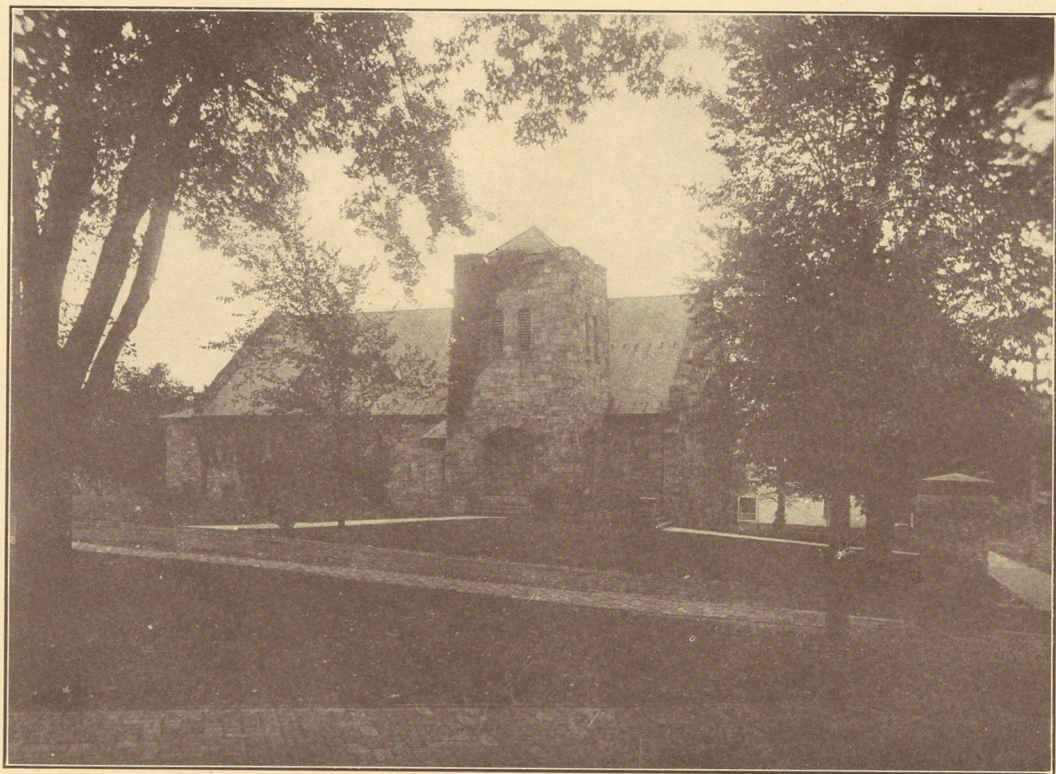

FOUNDERS HALL

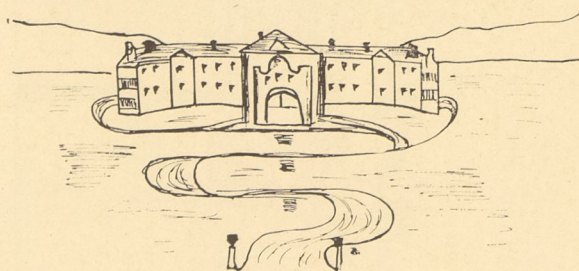

*When sinks the sun, to paint with fire
Old "Founders" lofty tower,
Pride stirs the embers of desire
And spirits gain new power.*

STONE CHURCH

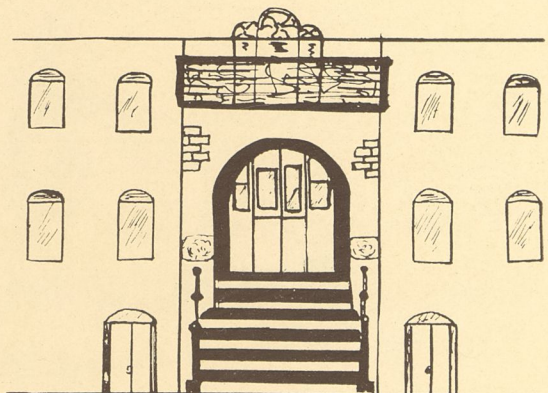

*Little "Stone Church," how memory throngs
With joys that are almost pain!
Thy Sabbath rest and sweet old songs
Ne'er touched our hearts in vain.*

STUDENTS' HALL

*The glory of grey, worn "Students,"
Is her sons in their pride of youth.
She bids them stand unshaken
For freedom, justice, truth.*

• 1922 ALFARATA •

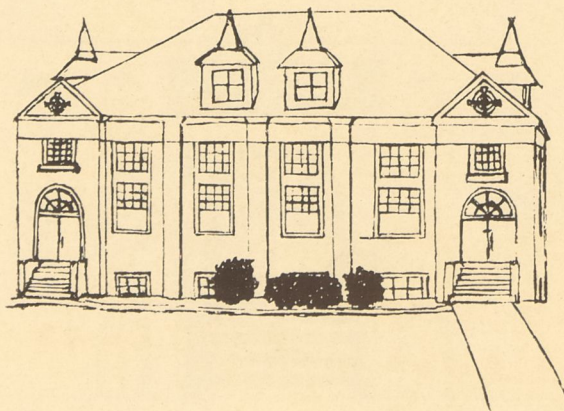

• JUNIATA COLLEGE •

GYMNASIUM

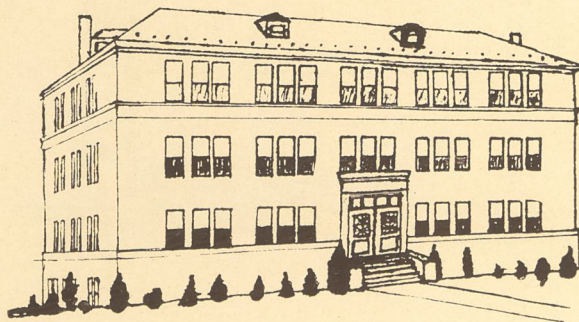

*Up, up my friend, and quit your books!
Let's to the "Gym" amain!
We'll sing and shout—come clear your looks—
We've got to win this game.*

SCIENCE HALL

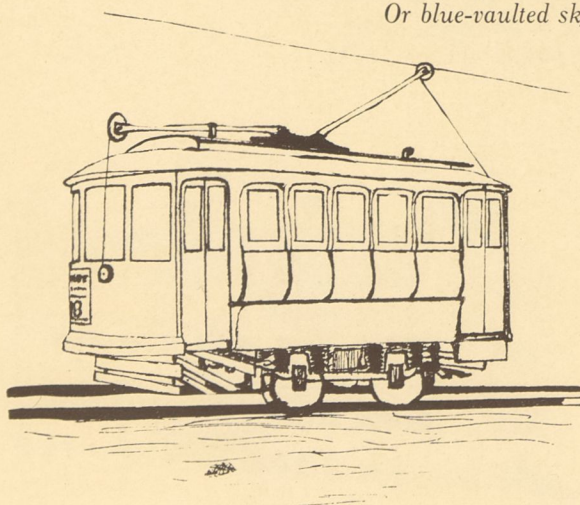

*Forget not yet the great assays
Staid "Science" made, deep delving day by day,
The painful patience in prolonged delays
Successes, failures; think of them I pray.*

CAMPUS, LOOKING NORTH

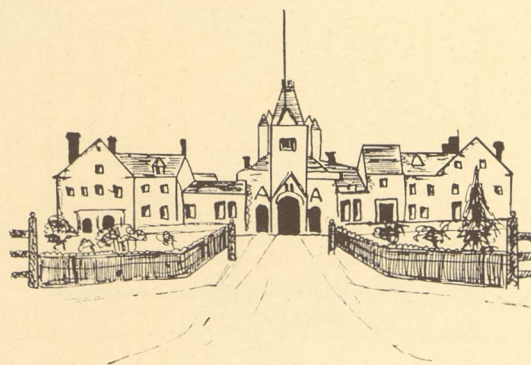

*I, too, would sing for your praising
Fair "Campus," had I
The voice of thy whispering grasses
Or blue-vaulted sky.*

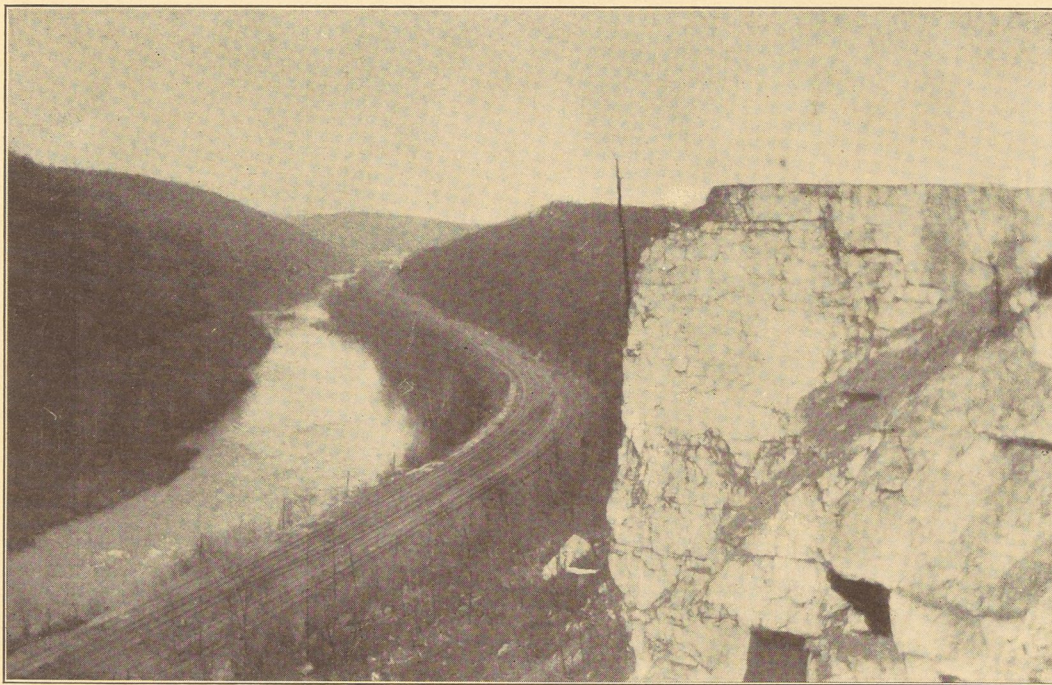

THE CAMPUS (IN WINTER)

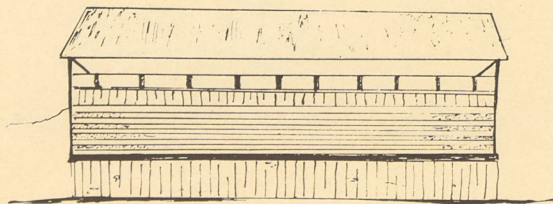

*Never we know, but in sleet and snow,
How dear the old friends are,
When within the "dorms" is warmth and mirth
And above the cold north star.*

THE CLIFFS

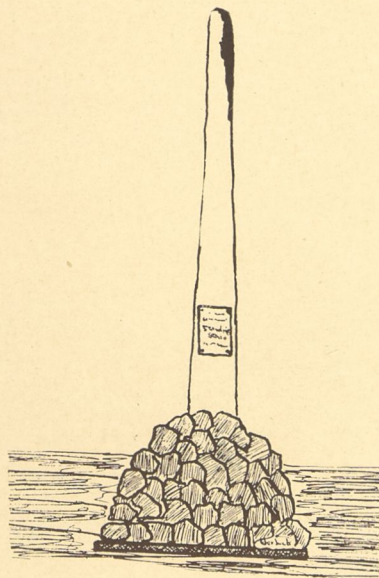

*The tall white "Cliffs," enticing,
Beg and invite a view.
In lusty spring 'tis worth the climb,
Especially "two by two."*

STONY CREEK (IN WINTER)

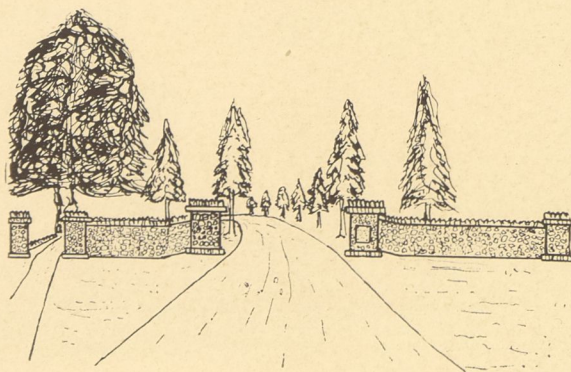

*O brown "Stony," blithe "Stony,"
Dancing, leaping, dashing along!
O wild "Stony," wise "Stony,"
We'll ne'er forget your undersong.*

BLAIR'S PARK (RUSTIC ARCH)

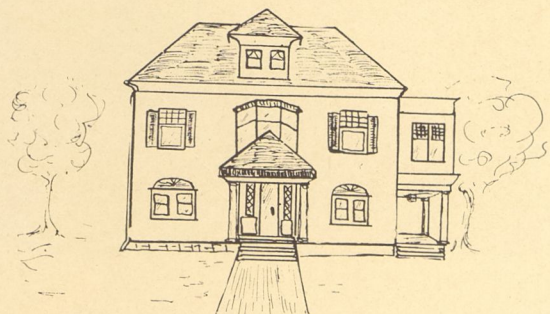

*The sunbeams slanting through thy ancient trees
 Thy beauty brighten, green "Retreat;"
 Birds' throats are spilling forth their glees,
 For stolen walks are sweet.*

STONY CREEK (ABOVE DAM)

*We wander where the "River" gleams,
'Neath oaks that muse and pines that dream,
And rest and think with joy that thrills
Of God's own "Everlasting Hills."*

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN WALTZ, A.B., A.M., B.D.
ALTOONA, PA.

Here is a man who has had experience in various activities. He has attended school at Elizabethtown College, at Franklin and Marshall College, and came to us last year. He has taught school and had charge of several pastorates. He is now serving as the efficient pastor of the 28th Street Church of the Brethren, Altoona, Pa. Mr. Waltz is a good student, doing his work thoroughly. His parishioners tell us that he is kind and sincere at all times. He is always conscientious and observing. He has already served humanity well, and we expect even greater things of him in the future.

CELESTA WINE, A.B., B.D.
CHICAGO, ILLS.

This little lassie came to us two years ago from Manchester College, where she had just completed her course in Arts. Celesta is what we call an "all-round" girl. Ever since her arrival at Juniata she has proved herself a friend, in the deepest sense of the word, to everyone with whom she has come in contact. She is one of the happiest little girls on the hill and she'd do anything for anyone. Many are the sunbeams that she casts upon what might otherwise be a gloomy place sometimes. She never ceases to be a source of never-ending interest and many are the stories she tells of her strange and delightful experiences in Denmark and Norway.

But, above all, she upholds those things which are for the betterment and advancement of Christianity. With her cheerful disposition and loving ways we feel sure that she has chosen a work which will make others happy, as well as herself.

GROVER LORINGTON WINE, A.B., B.D.
HUNTINGDON, PA.

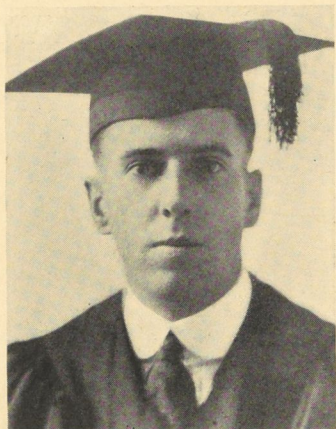

Last year Mr. Wine came to us from Polo, Ills. Manchester College is his Alma Mater, having conferred upon him the degrees of B.S.L., 1911, and A.B., 1915, after which time he served the Manchester Church as pastor. He also attended Marion Normal School and Central College, both of Indiana.

When twenty years of age he entered the ministry, and has served more than eight years in active pastoral work, being now pastor and elder of the Fairview Church, near Williamsburg, Pa.

He is quiet and prudent in his manner, careful, diligent, and successful in his work. The ministry is his chosen field, and his testimony is unfaltering for the Written and Living Word.

College Seniors

JESSE LEE STAYER, A.B.
CURRYVILLE, PA.

President Y. M. C. A. (3); Volunteer Band (2, 3, 4); Glee Club (2, 3, 4); Associate Editor "Alfarata" (3); Varsity Tennis Team (3, 4); Vice-President Lyceum (3); President History and Social Science Club (3); President Boys' Club (4); President Senior Class (4); President Student Council (4).

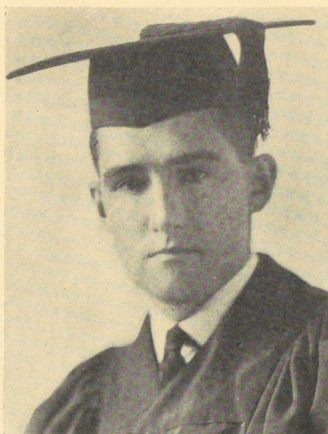

It has pleased the almighty Seniors to choose Jesse to perform its orders and to direct its course during the doubtful career of its final year. Calmly and serenely he has weathered blasts favorable or adverse, unbiased, patient "never shocked and never turned aside." An all-around man, he is admired and respected by both students and faculty. Education is his chosen field, and on him who acts well his part, Fortune will smile; he whose life is healthful and whose conscience clear.

HUGH BECKLEY, A.B.
ALUM BANK, PA.

Glee Club (2, 3, 4); "Echo" (3); Class Play (3); President of Lyceum (4); Science Club (4).

"Hugh" is our enigma. You see we thought he had decided to be one of our scientists but his interests seem to have turned to "Arts." Those who know him best tell us he is a typical "merchant."

*"Estatly is be with his governaunce,
With his bargaynes and with his contracts."*

Whatever his future career, we know the world will be served well.

HELEN MARIE BEERY, A.B.
EMPIRE, CALIF.

Vice-President Class (1); Secretary Lyceum (1); Class Play (1, 2); Student Council (2); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (2); Secretary of History and Social Science Club (4).

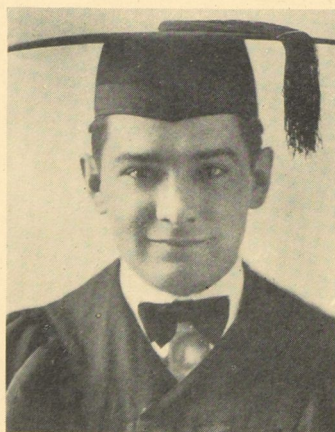

"Our Girl of the Golden West," hailing from far-off California, the land of raisins and movie stars. Happy-go-lucky Helen is a welcome prodigal, for her Junior work was pursued at the University of Minnesota. However, the lure of the East was too strong and memories of her classmates too attractive. In future years you will see her "hang out her shingle" emblazoned with the letters, "M.D.," worthy scion of the Class of '22.

FREDERICK BECKLEY, A.B.
ALUM BANK, PA.

Baseball Team (2); Basketball Team and Football Squad (3); Class Play (3); Athletic Editor "Alfarata" (3); Manager Basketball Team (4); Cheer Leader (3, 4); President History and Social Science Club (4).

With his twinkling brown eyes and crinkly smile, Fred is energy personified. Gaze on the above list of activities and you will find them distinctly from "hand" to "mouth." The latter cheered us on to many victories when defeat seemed inevitable. It is rumored that Fred is going into business, and if he goes at it with his usual "pep" and fight, our prediction of success will be speedily verified.

ELIZABETH NICELY BOYD, B.S.
LIGONIER, PA.

Graduate in Pianoforte (2); Assistant in Music Department (3, 4); President Girls' Club (3); Girls' Glee Club (3, 4); Class Secretary-Treasurer (3); Science Club (3, 4); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (3).

"Say it with music" is her motto, and much to our delight "the word is father to the deed." Elizabeth is the panacea for study-fag, from which Seniors usually suffer (?). She is also our future Madame Curie, our one and only "lady scientist;" the first to be graduated from the Juniata Scientific Course. It may be a far cry from sharps and flats to science, but, after all, the only difference is in the type of "scales."

PRESTON HANAWALT, A.B.
AKRON, OHIO

Intercollegiate Debate Team (2); College Glee Club (2, 3); Sophomore Play (2); Editor "Echo" (2, 3, 4); Track Team (2, 3, 4); Editor-in-chief "Alfarata" (3); Football Team (3, 4); Basketball Squad (3); President of English Club (3, 4); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (3, 4).

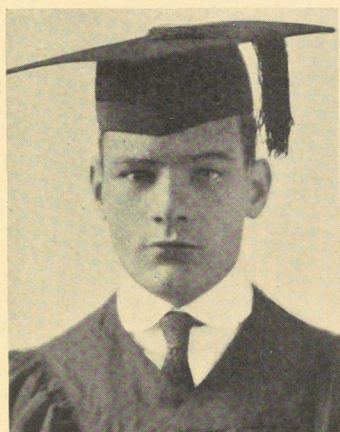

"Pres" is our philosopher. To him the world is not a blank.

"It means intensely, and

To find its meaning is his meat and drink."

In addition to his philosophizing he has found time to do many things well. He has not quite decided whether in future he will wield the pen or—

It is in contemplation of a successful past that we find the best augury for a similar future.

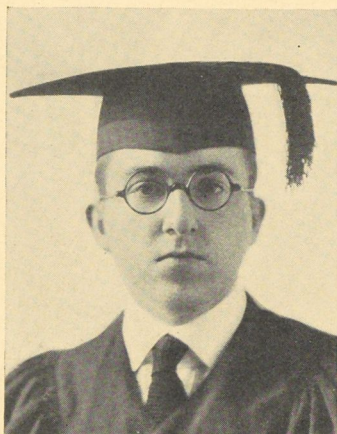

M. BERTHA BROWER, A.B.
SPRING CITY, PA.

English Club (3, 4); Class Secretary (2); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (3).

One never hears much from our "petite Berte" but one is always conscious that she is near. A typical "nut-browne mayde," her sparkling eyes bespeak a fun-loving propensity which her tinkling laugh verifies. Sure she is going to be a "school-marm," and "it's going to be lots of fun."

C. LESTER HESS, B.S.
ALTOONA, PA.

Class President (1); Treasurer Lyceum (1); Class Play (2, 3); House Committee Boys' Club (2, 3); Debate Club (3); "Alfarata" Staff (3); English Club (3, 4); Glee Club (2, 3, 4); Assistant in Chemistry (4).

"Less" is just a "common every-day mortal, as we all should be." His most distinguishing characteristic is his giggle—which is a match for Sair's. He is assistant in the Chemistry Laboratory. His trials and tribulations with the Household Chemistry Class ought to prepare him for any career—even that of a doctor. With this aim in mind, and the will to work, we are content to trust his future to "the grand instructor, Time."

BARBARA BRUMBAUGH, A.B.
HUNTINGDON, PA.

Girls' Debating Team (2); Class Play (2, 3); Secretary Lyceum (2); President English Club (3); Library Assistant (3, 4); College Events Editor for "Echo" (3, 4).

Our vocabulary is sadly lacking in words to describe to you our "B. B." Charming, adorable, care-free, irresistible—everybody knows and loves her. Although "B" is not a special friend of "Study," yet she "gets by." She meets all questions as to her future career with a gay nod and, "I'm going away to school somewhere." Wherever she goes our hearts go with her, "bright spirit of immortal youth."

CARL H. HOFFMAN, A.B.
BANGOR, PA.

Varsity Basketball Team (4); Varsity Baseball Team (4).
We have recourse to Chaucer in introducing Carl:

*"A lovyere and a lusty bachelor
Of his stature he was of even lengthe
And wonder agile and greet of strengthe."*

He came to us in our Senior year, after spending three years at Albright College, where he was the star of Varsity sports. Of the name which his athletic prowess has made for him at Juniata "what nedeth wondes mo?" Moreover, we have learned to know him as a loyal classmate and a jolly good fellow. What the future may bring to him we do not know. He may shine in the rôle of Caruso or "Babe" Ruth. Who can tell? Bonne chance, Carl!

DOROTHY LOUISE DAVIS, A.B.
SIX MILE RUN, PA.

Class Play (2, 3); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (3, 4); Secretary Modern Language Club (3, 4); History and Social Science Club (4); Winner of Fall Outing Contest (4).

"Dot" came to us via the Huntingdon and Broad Top, which she loyally declares is the "best railroad ever." While not studying French, she spends her time basking in the arms of Morpheus. Moreover, she is the champion "Senior Scribe"; her avocation is writing lengthy epistles in a tiny, precise hand. Letters from teachers' agencies are already dropping at her door, and rumor whispers that the brightest offer is one of "Preceptress" in far New York. We give "Dot" one year, then—

PAUL G. HOLSINGER, B.S.
WILLIAMSBURG, PA.

Glee Club (1, 2, 3, 4); Class President (3); Business Manager "Alfarata" (3); Song Leader (3); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (3); Boys' Club (4); Basketball (4).

"Linked sweetness long drawn out" is descriptive of Paul's voice, disposition, and also his stature. His primary interest is mathematics and his secondary, photography. Paul's "lankiness" served him well in athletics, and also at banquets.

When he grows "big" he is going to be a doctor.

*"A very perfect practitioner,
The cause to know and of the harm the root."*

MILDRED M. HETRICK, A.B.
HUNTINGDON, PA.

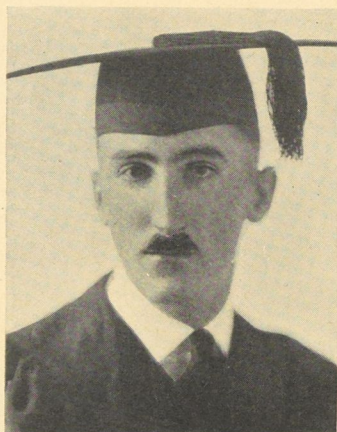

It is probably the misfortune of the Class of '22 not to have become better acquainted with Mildred. Reserved and studious, she pursues her quiet way as one in whom "taste, judgment and learning join."

She is not a

*"Bookful blockhead, ignorantly read,
With loads of learned lumber in her head,"*

but has with her knowledge of books a knowledge of human kind which will serve her well in her chosen profession.

RICHARD T. JUDY, A.B.
GARRETT, PA.

House Committee Boys' Club (2); Class Play (2, 3); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (3); President History and Social Science Club (3); Debate Club (3, 4); Treasurer, Censor Lyceum (3).

"Dick" is the student of "Students." He it is who burns the midnight electric light and is hard at it again before cock crow. Such perseverance can have but one reward.

Law is his chosen profession, and since at Juniata "of study took he most care and heed," his "Blackstone" ought to prove an easy task.

*When Dick is listed in "Who's Who"
Remember he's of "Twenty-Two."*

THALIA IRENE HERSHEY, A.B.
LITITZ, PA.

Treasurer of Lyceum (1); Class Secretary-Treasurer (2); Recording Secretary Lyceum (2); Class Play (3); Debating Club (4); Secretary-Treasurer History and Social Science Club (3, 4); Girls' Debate Team (4).

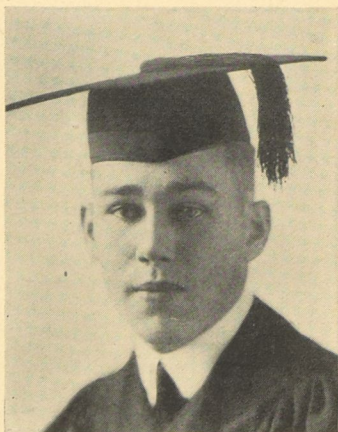

A name suggestive to us of many things in addition to chocolate bars and "Polar Pies." It calls to mind a maid with a crown of hair worthy the brush of Titian, a "disting-wished" member of the "Fourth-Floor Family." We predict a happy future for "Tha." Next year she will teach and then—"Oh, blindness to the future kindly given."

BRUCE SIEBER LANDIS, A.B.
WINNSBORO, LA.

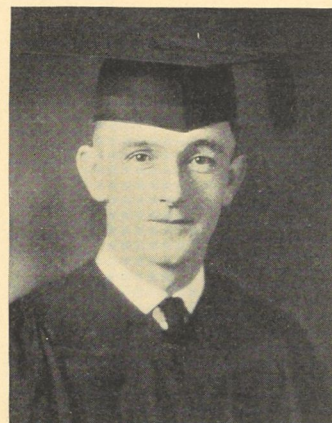

History and Social Science Club (4).

Our sole representative of the "Sunny South" is also a returned prodigal. His Junior work was pursued at the University of Pennsylvania, but he, too, must needs answer "the lure of Juniata." We welcome "Sieb" and his "lazy southern drawl." He has settled down to "business," and we expect great things of him some day, be his field of endeavor north or south.

FRANK MAGILL, A.B.
McALEVY'S FORT, PA.

It has not been granted to the Class of '22 to become well acquainted with Frank Magill, popularly known as "Mr. Gill." However, after reviewing his past, we are glad to add him to our "twenty-eight"—musical, athletic, studious, "afraid of girls," he meets all our qualifications. He has already proved himself a popular teacher of history in Waynesboro, so we can but add a wish that his future may be as bright and successful as his past.

EDNA PEARL HESS, A.B.
ALTOONA, PA.

Secretary of Lyceum (2); Class Play (2); "Echo" (2), Associate Editor (3, 4); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (3); Literary Editor "Alfarata" (3), Senior Editor (4); Assistant Librarian (3, 4); President English Club (4); Class Secretary-Treasurer (4).

The real jewel of the class of 1922 is our Pearl—ever faithful, conscientious, and dependable. In the decision of knotty school problems, we value the counsel of one who deliberates sanely and justly. Not only our classmates appreciate the literary abilities of Pearl, but those issuing the College publications also refer to her for aid and guidance.

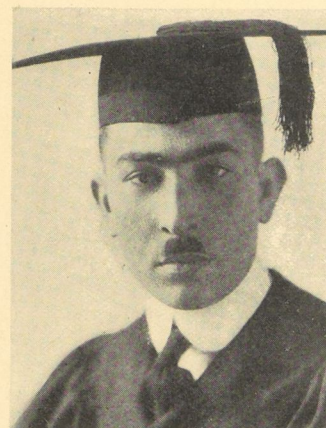

Thus we can truthfully say:

*None knew Pearl but to esteem her,
Nor named her but to praise.*

JESSE KELLER MILLER, B.S.
MARTINSBURG, W. VA.

Advertising Manager "Echo" (3); Sales Manager "Alfarata" (3); Manager Football Team (3, 4); Varsity Track Team (3); Vice-President Science Club (3).

If you want something done, just put it up to "Shark" (see above), and such has proved the case. A true son of West Virginia, he seems to have imbibed some of the austerity and secretiveness of her mountains, and so, perhaps, it's hard to get below the surface, but we who have done so bespeak him "true blue." In future, whatever "Shark" may decide to do, we are certain he will "do it with his might."

E. MARIE KIMMEL, A.B.
ELDERTON, PA.

Volunteer Band (1, 2, 3, 4); Modern Language Club (3); History and Social Science Club (4); Debating Club (4); Girls' Glee Club (3, 4); President Y. W. C. A. (3, 4).

Marie with the "curly eyes and laughing hair" is always busy and always ready with a helping hand. Her jolly laugh is a pure elixir and a sure cure for "the blues." English, French, or Pennsylvania Dutch, her quaint speech is a never-ending source of delight to her many friends. Marie expects to teach and then to prepare for mission work. Should her field of labors be "icy mountains" or "coral strands," we prophesy that all her "clouds will have silver linings."

STANLEY BRALLIER NOFFSINGER, B.S.
JOHNSTOWN, PA.

Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (2, 3); Treasurer Volunteer Band (4); Glee Club (3, 4); President History and Social Science Club (3); Debating Club (4); Ministerium (4).

Stanley graces our roll of budding scientists. A long afternoon in the "Lab." with bugs 'n things is his special delight. (His other Q. E. D. is "How to be happy though married.") He and his wife have definitely decided to devote their lives to the mission cause, and next year will probably find him busy with his medical work. A life with such a purpose is sure to succeed; we can but add "God speed."

SAIR McDOWELL, A.B.
IRVONA, PA.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (2, 3); Secretary Lyceum (2); "Echo" (3); English Club (3); History and Social Science Club (4).

Apropos of George Eliot, Sair's broad smile and big heart are matched by "a diameter directly in proportion." Her frequent giggle, we are loath to say, is quite unworthy a dignified Senior, but will ever be inseparable from our memory of her.

Her philosophy of life is "Laugh and the world laughs with you," and she practices what she preaches. If good humor makes a good teacher, Sair wins.

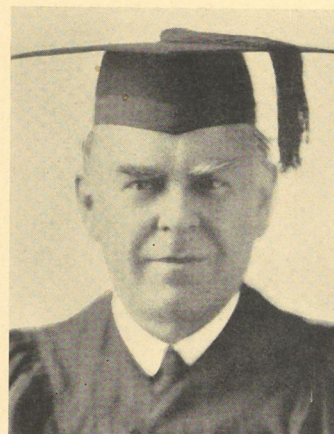

GALEN B. ROYER, A.B.
HUNTINGDON, PA.

The Class of 1922 considers it a rare pleasure to have as one of its members Dr. Royer. He joined us in our Senior year, and has been a never-failing source of help and inspiration. His name is known throughout our church world wherever Christian character is revered and Christian manhood respected. Incidentally, he and Mother Royer and their little Ford have proved the best of chaperons. Just to be with him has been an added education. His years of experience have broadened his counsel, and his truth and candor have helped us to solve many knotty problems.

The highest tribute we can pay to one whose life has already proved to be such a blessing is

"Thou wert our guide Philosopher and friend."

E. GLADYS LASHLEY, A.B.
EVERETT, PA.

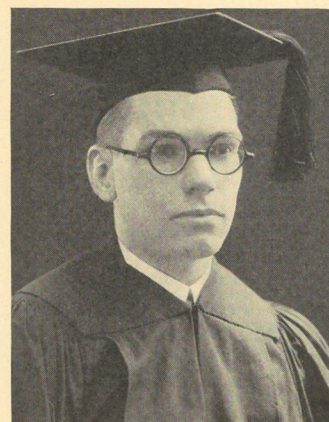

Vice-President Y. W. C. A. (2, 3); Girls' Debate Team (2, 3); Modern Language Club (3); Secretary Lyceum (3); Volunteer Band (3, 4); Secretary Debate Club (4); History and Social Science Club (4).

The level glance of "Glad's" brown eyes keeps one guessing just what may be going on in that head with its nimbus of dusky locks. She has the uncanny gift of saying unexpected things and of knowing that which she does not know. Refreshingly original, with the faculty of "getting there," success awaits her whatever her chosen field of endeavor.

BYRON MONROE SELL
ALTOONA, PA.

Y. M. C. A.; Volunteer Band; Lyceum; Glee Club; Track Team.

Byron joined the verdant group of Juniata Freshmen in 1916. Of the consecutive years, three were spent at Juniata, and the remaining ones in Philadelphia pursuing a course in medicine. Now he returns to us for his degree. It is said he is given to building air-castles, and is looking forward to the time when as a medical missionary he may minister to those who are in darkness and distress. Success to you Byron, with your ringing laugh and sunny smile.

ANNA GERTRUDE PRICE, A.B.
JOHNSTOWN, PA.

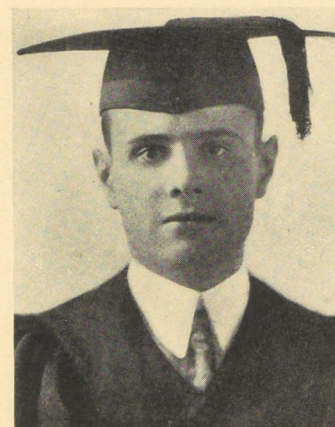

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (2, 3); Treasurer Girls' Club (2); Recording Secretary Lyceum (3); History and Social Science Club (3, 4).

This little girl with the great big name is more familiarly known as "Ann." Some folks accuse her of wearing glasses to add an air of dignity, but we know she wore bells on her goloshes just "to make music wherever she goes." For to "Ann" it's just pure joy to be alive and to walk in the big outdoors. She's going to teach history and incidentally "make" it.

CHARLES ROSENBERGER WINE, B.S.
DAYTON, OHIO

Treasurer Boys' Club (1); Class Play (3); Assistant in Biology (3); Vice-President Class (4); President Science Club (4).

The Class of '22 holds the record for scientists and embryonic M.D.'s, and Charles is our representative from the Buckeye State. To him we attribute two necessary qualifications for a successful career—a heart of gold and a sense of humor. Charles has two other hobbies, in addition to his science—poetry and beautiful pictures. Next year will find him at Hahnemann, well on the way to "Homeopathy."

ORLENA WOLGEMUTH, A.B.
ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

Treasurer Modern Language Club (3); Debating Team (3); History and Social Science Club (4); Volunteer Band (4); Secretary of Student Council (4); Y. W. C. A. Cabinet (3, 4).

From "Way Down East," in our Sophomore year, came tall, dignified Orlena. Those eyes may impress you at first as solemn, but we have learned that they are windows of a happy, genial spirit. Language is her fetish: "She speaks in divers tongues." A born teacher, she will joy "to campaign in Gaul with her students or sing of arms and a hero."

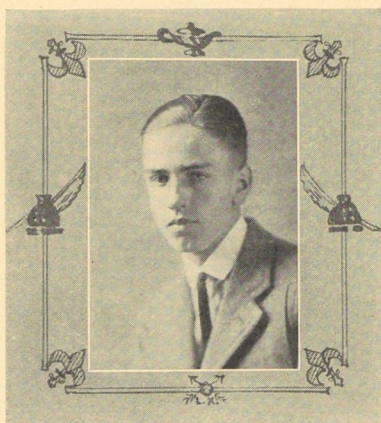

Academy Seniors

ROBERT PATRICK	President
RICHARD SNYDER	Vice-President
GRACE METZ	Secretary
CATHERINE BENSON	Treasurer

ROBERT BRADY PATRICK ("Pat")
FORT WAYNE, IND.

"Pat" is one of the lone members of the class from its beginning. It has been mainly through his efforts that the class has enjoyed so many privileges. He is such a friendly sort of chap and so willing to assist anyone that it is no wonder he holds the office of President in both the Senior Class and Oriental Society. As the "Count" did he make a success? "Yes, no, yes!"

yet we are glad to be here, where we have enjoyed many privileges, hitherto unknown.

The year has been filled with exciting events, the best one being the Senior outing to Echo Glen. A long walk, lots of fun, and, "Oh! Boy," you should have seen the eats. We had no little fun in selecting class rings and pins, but at last found a suitable design. Our Senior play was a grand success from beginning to end.

We believe that we have taken a larger part in College activities than any other class before us. All have tried to make the class one long to be remembered for its high ideals and ability to get results.

But we cannot linger too long on these past experiences that are still green in our memories. The beckoning future lies but a step beyond and we must harken to her silent but emphatic demands. She is calling some of us to go out into the world and take up our tasks, others to go on in preparation for a larger and better life of service.

WE, the Academy Seniors of '22, have reached the threshold of our young lives, and it is with the mixed feelings of gladness and regret that we look back across the more or less tragic events that mark and span the years through which we have passed in the climb to this exalted position.

Only a few members of the present class, which is one of the largest ever to graduate from the Academy, have followed the fortunes of the class from its infancy to this, its one goal. Needless to say that many and varied were our experiences during the first two years, and it is with the greatest of pleasure that we pass over them to the more important and eventful Junior year.

In this year we began to take an active part in all athletics and other activities about the College. We were proud to boast of a "J" man in football. Perhaps the most exciting period for us was the Junior reception, given on Washington's Birthday, when we decorated the Gym and acted as host to the entire school.

Now we have reached the zenith of our preparatory career, and find that though it is not so wonderful as at first imagined,

RICHARD CLIFTON SNYDER ("DICK")
CLEARVILLE, PA.

"Dick" is our Academy star, not only as Varsity basketball sub, but also in football and baseball. He is a favorite with the College fellows, and we, the Seniors, speak of him with great pride.

To say he is a ladies' man would be committing a frightful error on our part. It is needless to say that in taking the part of a loving and suspicious husband in "Why Smith Left Home" he could not be excelled.

GRACE METZ
MILL CREEK, PA.

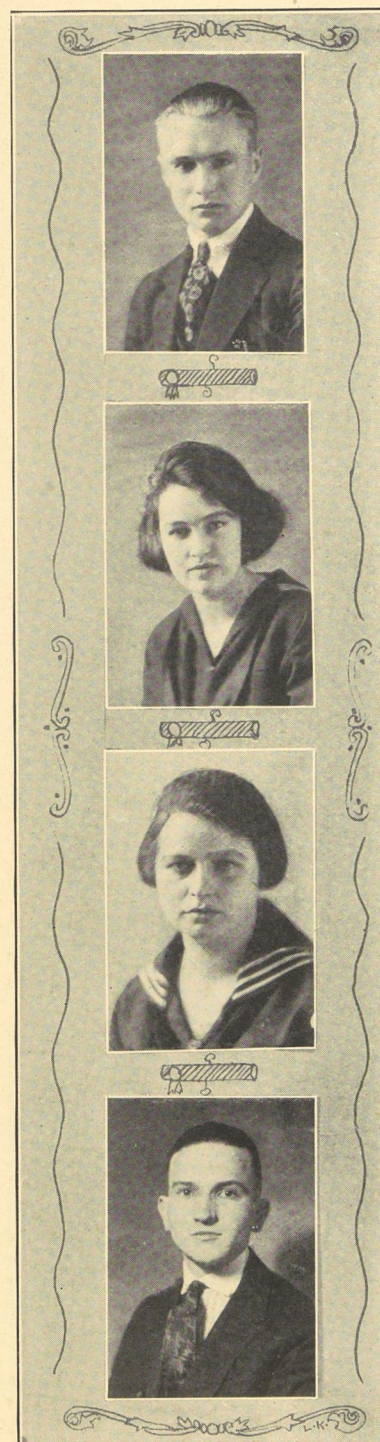

Grace, our class secretary, comes to us from Mill Creek, and brings with her much of the fragrance and beauty of that valley. She possesses much talent in music, both piano and voice. She has played no small part in making the class what it is. As "Mrs. Billetdoux" she had "so" much to do with "Smith's Leaving Home," that success was certain (inevitable).

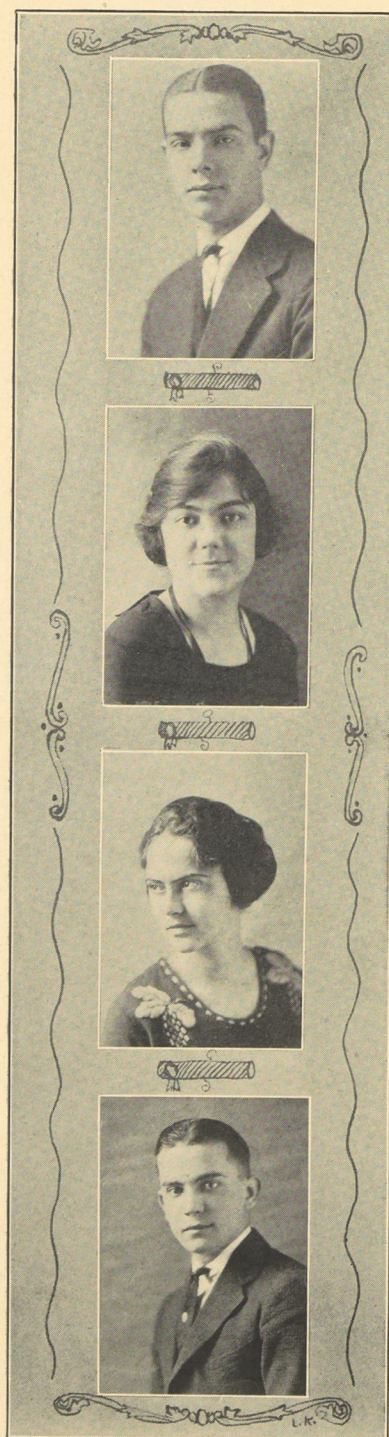

CATHERINE BENSON
HUNTINGDON, PA.

Catherine is one of those quiet girls who has little to say but is always doing a great deal. As the class treasurer she is good, but as "Lavania" she is an ideal cook, and contributed largely to the success of the play. As a student she ranks with the highest, and as a friend none better can be found.

CLAYTON CHALMER PHEASANT ("BIRD")
MAPLETON, PA.

"Bird" is one of the very few who get real pleasure out of their studies and work. He has never taken much interest in athletics, but when it comes to classes he leads us all. He is very well liked by the boys, but seems rather shy with the girls. Perhaps a reason for this outward show of bashfulness lies in the fact that he seldom spends a week-end here at the College.

EUGENE ESTEP SPARGO ("GENE")
RIDDLESBURG, PA.

*"Merry met, merry part,
I drink to you with all my heart."*

"Gene" is from the coal-fields of Pennsylvania, consequently his black hair and eyes. He is one of the "regular" fellows and puts pep and life into all of our activities. Many "society" meetings on Fourth Founder's would not be complete without him.

"Bob," we all "check" with you.

EDITH HARTMAN
MIFFLINTOWN, PA.

A girl who carries sunshine and happiness wherever she goes. For her the great "outdoors" holds many charms. Though she makes life a pleasure for her many friends and herself, she is a good, ambitious student. As "Julia," she was "touchingly clever," to say the least. We all admire this smiling, black-eyed lass from Mifflintown. Eh, Pat?

ELIZABETH OLLER WERTZ ("DIDDIE")
WAYNESBORO, PA.

This is "Diddie," so full of life and action that you seldom find her still. She is just a vivacious little girl in whom you are always finding new and delightful traits. We cannot imagine what the class would be like without her wealth of new and original ideas. As "Mrs. Smith" she is an "ideal" wife.

HARRY GLENN CUNNINGHAM ("CUNNY")
VIENNA, VA.

"Cunny" is our wonderful athlete and can always be found in the thickest of the fray. He played for two years on our Varsity football team and is also a good track man. "Cunny" has a good "line" and a remarkable faculty for adapting himself to any environment. His only weakness is a tendency to be near the weaker sex. Eh, Major?

PAUL BROWN STAYER ("COUTSER")
WOODBURY, PA.

Meet the "General," one of the best-natured, most kind-hearted friends any fellow could hope to have. His motto is, "Laugh and the world laughs with you." That "catching" laugh of his has brightened many a lonesome day. Paul is a diligent student in the A+ class. He will always be "One of the Old Guard" to us.

MARTHA BELLE KERR
McVEYTOWN, PA.

This is "our" Martha from McVeytown, and a merry, light-hearted girl is she.

In our Senior play "Elsie" was an adorable little maid, and "you'll never know" how much she has meant to the success of all our enterprises. Except for the waywardness of one little curl we see a very bright future for you, Martha.

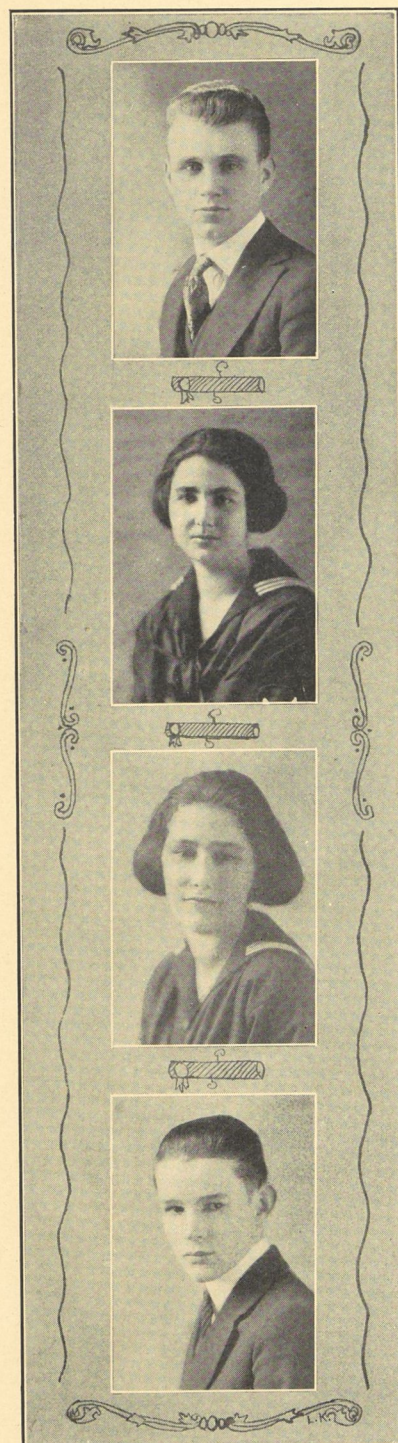

FREDA ALTMAN LLOYD
ALEXANDRIA, PA.

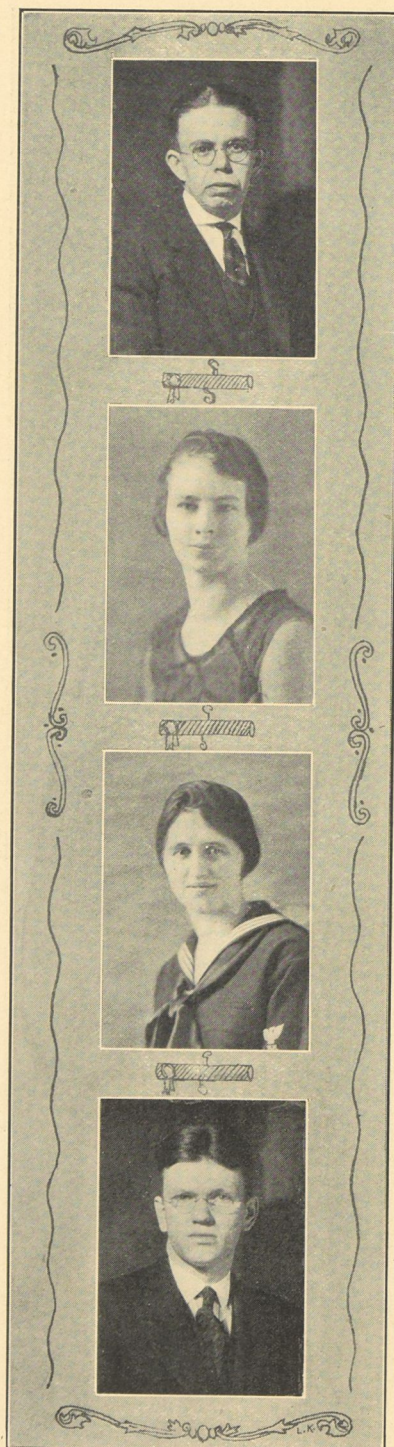

*"You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will,
But the scent of the roses will cling 'round it still."*

Speaking of flowers, Freda was one of rare beauty in our play, both in name and actions. What a real flower-garden Alexandria must be if she is a sample of all its "beds."

RAYMOND RINEHART STAYER ("DOC")

"Doc" is one of those quiet, studious sort of fellows who is bound to make a mark for himself. He is not too studious, however, to enjoy school life to its fullest. We are sure that somewhere in the future a place awaits his coming in which he will secure success in medical work.

JAMES MAXWELL WARD ("MAX")
PENNSYLVANIA FURNACE, PA.

"Max" is our class comedian and many happy hours have been spent in the enjoyment of his talent. He is always in good humor and will do anything for his friends. We are sorry to note of late that he has been paying too (?) much attention to the fairer sex. Good luck to you "Fat."

LILLIAN MILLER
ALUM BANK, PA.

Lillian is a friend worth having and one you should all know. She is a good student and seldom goes to a recitation without knowing her lesson. Her sunny disposition will brighten many dark hours for herself and for others.

CATHERINE ELIZABETH FYOCK
CLYMER, PA.

*Here's to the girl with a lot of light hair,
Here's to the girl with a real brain,
Here's to the girl who has always been fair,
Here's to the girl who will win fame.*

We count ourselves fortunate to have this bright studious girl on the class roll.

HUNTER AFRICA ("HUNT")
HUNTINGDON, PA.

"Hunt" is one of our day students, and although he has but little to say and is seldom seen idling about the campus, we are glad to have him as one of our number. He has a very promising future as a civil engineer.

NED PORTER ZETH
HOPEWELL, PA.

This tall, athletic fellow from up the H. & B.T.R.R. has a peculiar attraction for the ladies, and we are in doubt as to whether it lies in his winsome ways or in his ready smile.

We are expecting great things of Ned, especially in the religious world, and why not? Did he not take Bib. Int.?

BEULAH BONNER JOHNSTON
McCONNELLSBURG, PA.

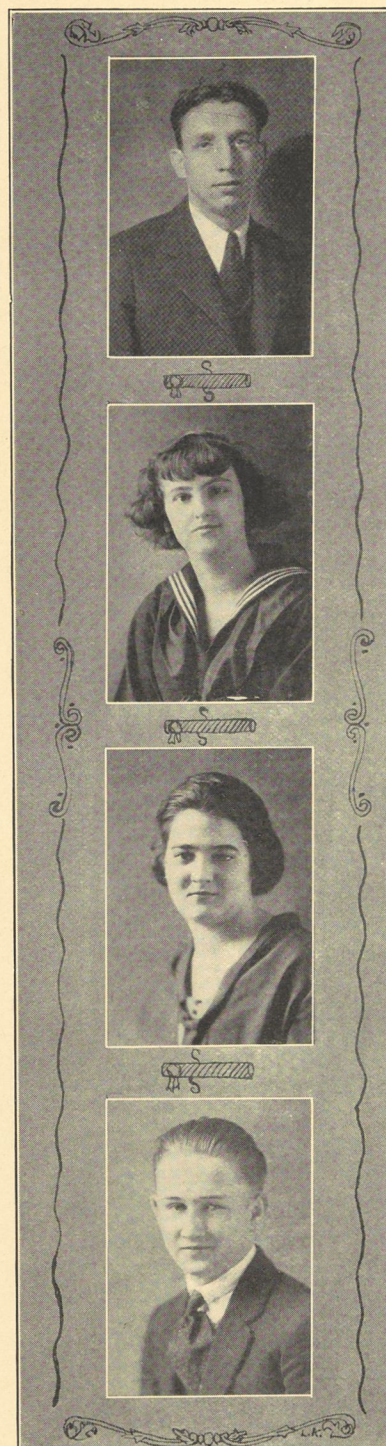

This sunny, brown-eyed girl made a much-needed addition to our class when she entered in January. In work or play she is always ready to help out, and it seems quite impossible to imagine her as a grim old maid, but she took this part admirably in our play. A good student, a jolly sport, and a true friend, is "Juliette," sometimes called "Billy."

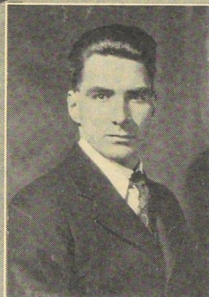

ALMA BRANT
BERLIN, PA.

This bashful and demure little lass comes from Somerset County. Her quiet but sweet disposition seems to have imbibed some of the maple sugar so plentiful near her home. Chemistry Lab. is Alma's chief delight, but, oh, how she wishes some kind fairy would untangle the formulas and equations!

GEORGE ELMER EWING ("HEING")
ORBISONIA, PA.

Here is George, a care-free, conscientious sort of a fellow who likes to spend most of his time in Mt. Union. He always starts for home, but we rather think that he lingers by the wayside. "Heing" is good-natured and full of fun, as the proprietor of the clubroom on Fourth should be.

ALVIN D. KIDD
MARION CENTER, PA.

Indiana County sends us one of our best students. He is always willing to take part in any class activity and is always ready to do his best at whatever task he may be called upon to do. He is very quiet and reserved but a true friend to all those who know him. Alvin has the best wishes of his classmates for a grand success in life.

ZELLA BECK
WARRIORS MARK, PA.

Zella is our ambitious little lady from Warriors Mark who has the A+ habit in all of her classes. With her, time is never wasted. She believes in understanding anything that she undertakes, therefore her ability in asking questions. You will always find Zella near the top.

CORA ELIZABETH GLASS
FALLING TIMBER, PA.

Cora came to us from Cambria County. She is always cheerful and has a smile or kind word for everyone, even those who trouble her to solve their mathematical problems during study hour. We wish her the best of success in her teaching career.

HARRY CLIFFORD McELWEE ("MAC")
DEFIANCE, PA.

"Mac" is not very large, but you should see him when he gets started. He is so full of wit and humor that where he is, silence cannot be found. Despite the fact that he says he doesn't like the women, he has a very peculiar liking for feathers.

Commercial

PAULINE DIPPERY ("DIPPIE")
LEWISTOWN, PA.

"Dippie" came to us from Lewistown. At first she thought she would have to go back—the change was so sudden—but after she got acquainted with us she decided to stay, and has proved a very good student. Her ambition is to be a model business teacher. She will succeed.

*Girls say her eyes, like sunny skies,
The chief attraction form;
Boys see the sunshine in her eyes,
And they're taken as by storm.*

LUTHER HOFFMAN ("HUFF")
WINDBER, PA.

"Huff" is our class president. He has proved to be an ideal leader in guiding his wandering classmates. It mustn't be forgotten that he is an expert bookkeeper, and just eats up Commercial Law. We have always known him to be in good spirits and have found in him a good classmate.

*Luther is a quiet lad,
Also our class athlete.
He never does a thing that's bad,
And studies hard and late.*

MARGARET SNIVELY ("PEG")
SHELLSBURG, PA.

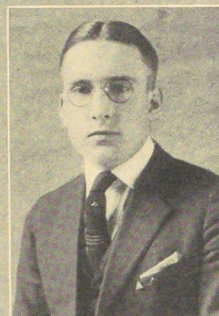

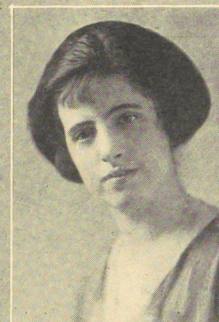

"Peg," although she isn't aware of it, is the most innocent little vamp you ever saw. She just loves anything that is good to eat, and never has any trouble in getting just what she wants.

*At Commercial Law she is a shark,
At smiling she's a queen—
True, she has the brightest smile
Of any maid you have ever seen.*

CLIFFORD K. STEINRUCK ("CLIFF")
PARKERFORD, PA.

"Cliff" is very active and full of "pep." His mind is like an air-brake—he is able to apply it whenever he wants to. He is treasurer of our class and proves to be very efficient in keeping tab of the class dues.

*Cliff is very good in books,
And also good at schemes.
He's often seen at Westbrook's,
For half a pint of cream.*

INEZ MADDEN ("MABLE")

ORBISONIA, PA.

Madden is one of those quiet little girls who says little but does a great deal. She has no trouble in keeping thin, which she accomplishes by studying hard. She is very quiet, and, finds little to say; nevertheless we believe she will be a wonderful stenographer.

*Humanity, that low sweet root
From which all heavenly virtues shoot.*

TREVA SMITH ("BOBBY")

DAYTON, OHIO

"Bobby" is another one of the commercial students. She is an earnest worker and well liked by all her classmates. Some day we'll hear of friend "Bobby" thumping on the keys of an Underwood in a big office on Wall Street—who knows?

*Her reasoning is full of tricks,
And butterfly suggestions.
We know no point to which she sticks,
She asks the simplest questions.*

ETHEL WEIRETER ("BUD")

DAYTON, OHIO

"Bud" is a jolly little girl from Ohio who, we might say, is never late for class. The worst that we can say about "Bud" is that she is entirely too modest and bashful, although she seems to have that peculiar something which always gets her what she wants.

*And in time it came to pass,
She was in a business class.
She would study hard with fear,
Whene'er the teacher would draw near.*

MARY EDWARDS ("EDDIE")

HUNTINGDON, PA.

"Eddie's" chief delight is to tease somebody. She never gets cross, and has proved herself a good sport as well as a good classmate, although it has taken us some time until we got fully acquainted with her. Since then we learned that she is not at all bashful, and usually finds plenty to say, especially about the weather.

*Always bright and cheery,
She is never sad or glum;
She is always on her tip-toes,
Looking for more fun.*

WILLIAM HOMER WINTERS ("WINTERS")
HANCOCK, MD.

And here we have the real business man of our class. "Winters" is a fine fellow and liked by everyone. He is always busy, and we can easily predict for him a very successful future.

*Strange to the world, he Wore a bashful look;
The fields his study; nature was his book.*

EDITH MAE SMITH ("EDDIE")
MILL CREEK, PA.

"Eddie" is quite jolly and a good student, always active and full of "pep." She is looked up to by all her classmates as a friend to be depended upon. We might say she is bright and ever willing to lend a helping hand to all.

*In our class there was a Smith
Who was always cheery and full of bliss,
And everywhere she went,
She was always happy and well content.*

LOVENIA HALK ("LOVEN")
MT. UNION, PA.

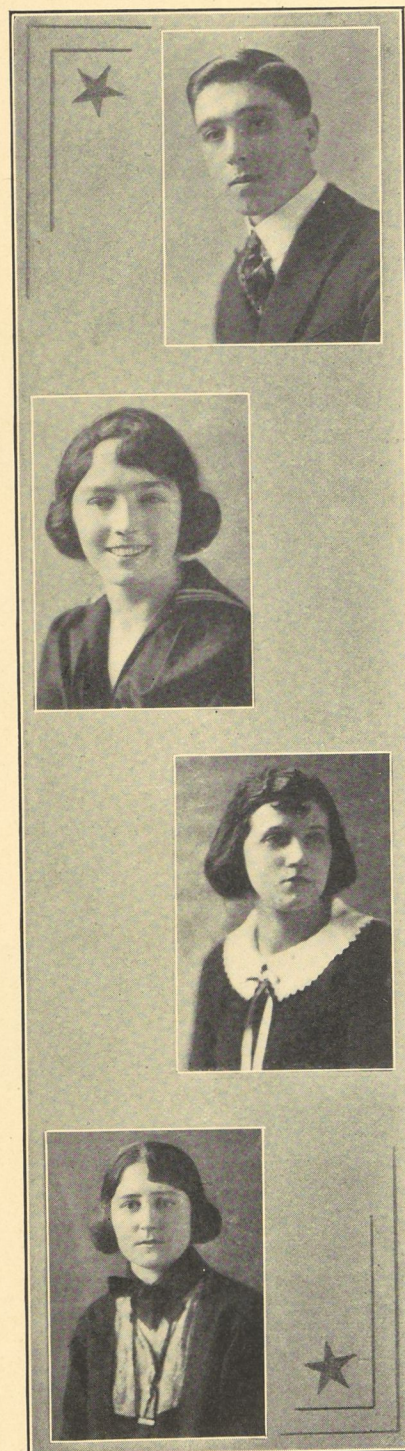

Who is that dark-haired girl? Oh! that's Lovenia Halk, the brightest student in our class. "Loven's" chief worry was when the roads between Mt. Union and Huntingdon became drifted and that a certain car would be unable to get through.

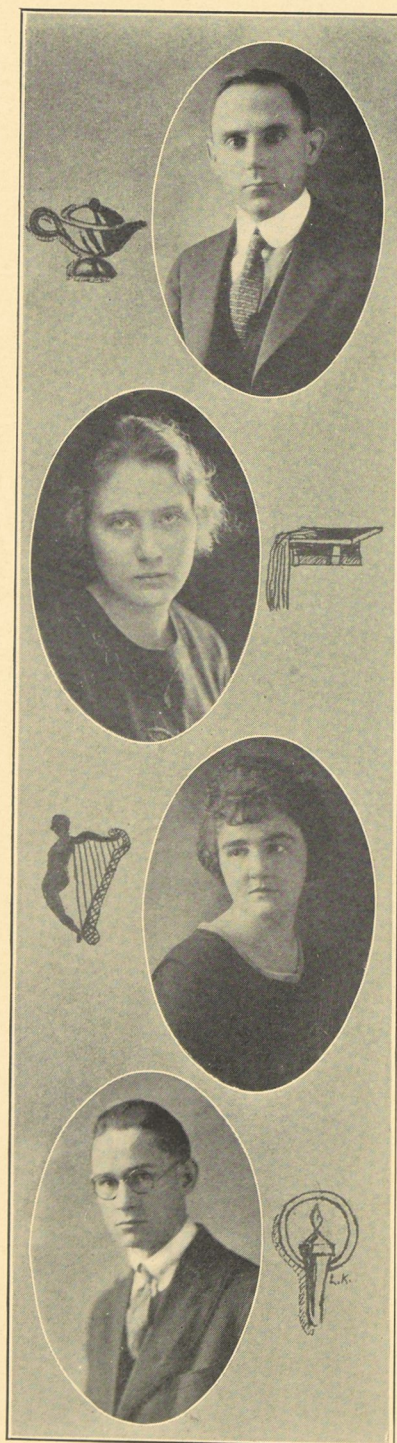

*Though she pursues a scholarly way,
Much fun she finds from day to day.*

MARY A. SHOPE ("SHOPE")
VALLEY POINT, PA.

"Shope" is a typical schoolgirl. She puts her whole heart and soul into it. She is the most distinguished girl in the class, and has just the sweetest disposition. Her smile will never be taken from her.

*Lots of frolic, lots of fun
Girls like Shope
Keep the world going on.*

Bible

ALLAN GALE FREED, B.S.L.

WILLIAMSTOWN, OHIO

*"Work while you work, play while you play"
That is the way he lives every day.
"All that you do, do with your might,"
He is a lion for truth and for right.*

*Diligent, quiet, misunderstood,
Hating pretensions, admiring good;
Ever at work, though others decline,
Freed will be "present" and always on time.*

*Studying finance, hopes were aglow
That all his coffers would some day o'erflow;
NOW his ambition is to become
Pastor, teacher, dutiful son.*

Music

HAZLE M. GEORGE ("GEORGE")

HAGERSTOWN, MD.

Hazle hails from Hagerstown, Md. She was graduated from J. C. Academy in '21, having completed the first year of the Public School Music Course at the same time.

Miss George, dubbed "George" by the girls, proved herself an untiring student as is attested by the fact that she has won prizes in the Department of English and is a member of the Echo staff. She has been a member of the Girls' Glee Club, the College Chorus and the Volunteer Band.

In the Academy class play, '21, she played the part of "Patty;" she also has been active in basketball, being on the girls' Varsity team this year.

WINIFRED LUTZ

MOUNT UNION, PA.

Winifred is one of our day students who comes to us from Mount Union. She was graduated from the high school there in 1919. The following year she entered Juniata to start her career in the musical world. In 1921 she completed the course in Public School Music and this year she is continuing her work in the School of Music.

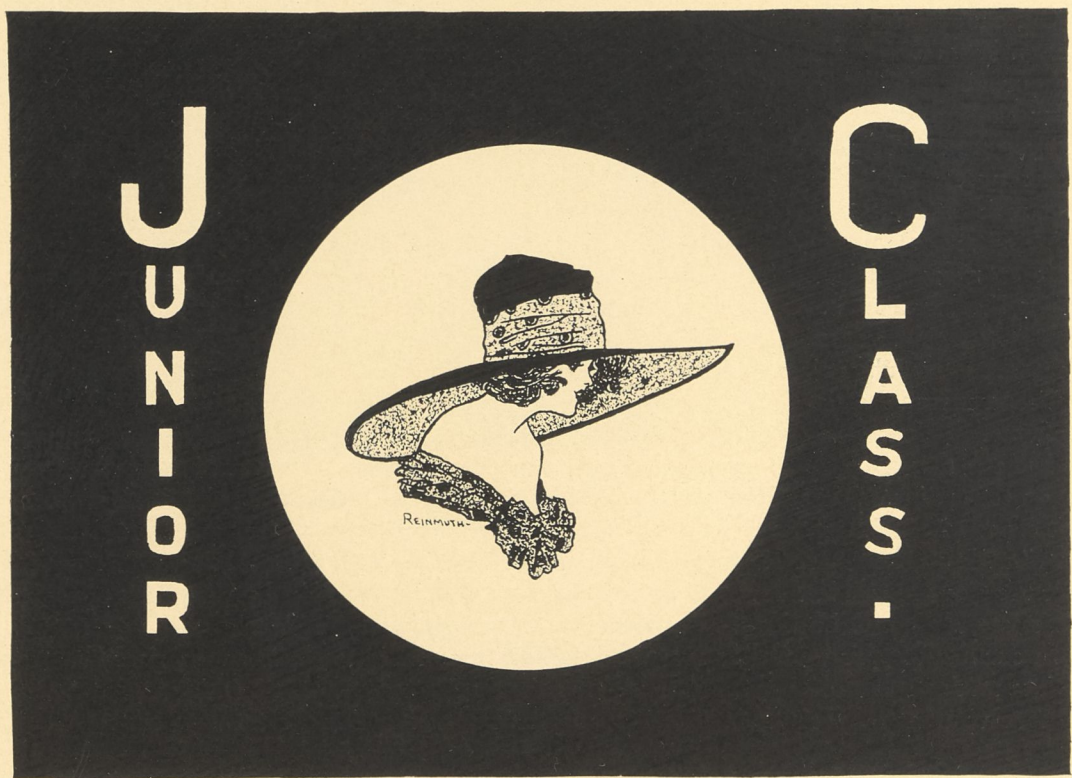

By her friends she is known as "Winn," and, as this name suggests, she has a winning personality and a pleasing manner which was manifested in her piano and voice recitals of last year and in her solo work in the Girls' Glee Club.

OWEN HATCH

MT. UNION, PA.

Owen spent his "cradle days" in Sistersville, W. Va. He was graduated from Clearfield High School in '20, and came to Juniata College in the following autumn, contributing much to the verdure of the Freshmen class. While in high school he was a student of piano and violin and has continued in these lines in College. He has been violinist for the Men's Glee Club the last two years and has successfully entertained many large audiences.

Owen has aspirations to become a public school music supervisor and in this field we prophesy for him a bright and successful career, and we look for a revival of harmony out of the chaos.

HISTORY

Our class history at first glance might be called a prototype of all other class histories, yet it is essentially different in the fact that it truly portrays our three years' residence at Juniata College and our life and fellowship with our classmates, without the element of "putting it over" on the lower classes and of insisting upon our superiority over all preceding classes. Still one is always proud of their class, and it is almost impossible to write a history of a class that you have been connected with for three years and have seen prosper and develop, without an element of pride which may, in some places, be apparent.

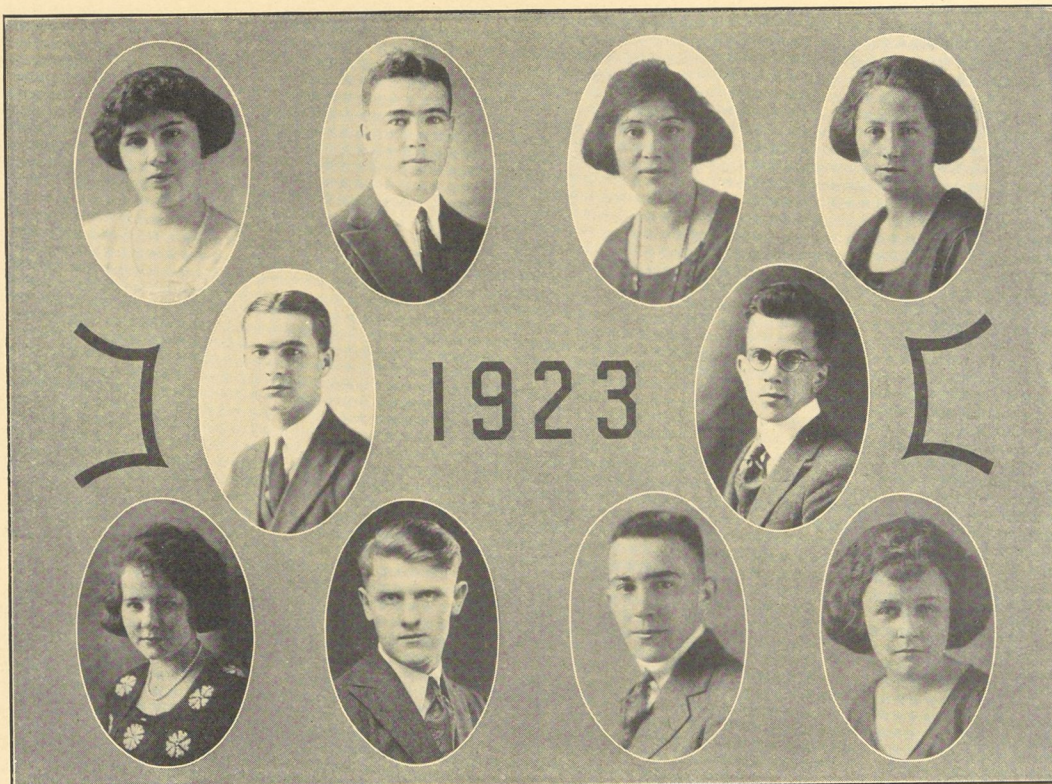

We entered upon the life at Juniata College as fresh as all Freshmen proverbially are. We had our customary and "legendary" battles with the Sophs, which is a part of any well-regulated college Freshman's life. Some of our number distinguished themselves in the field of athletics, some in debating, and others in the intellectual and social activities. Our class activities were not slighted, and we fully enjoyed our picnics and socials.

Yes, it is true that in the Sophomore year we thought we knew it all, as is customary with all Sophomores. Just as when we were Freshmen we had our troubles with the Sophs, as Sophomores we had our revenge by turning upon the poor innocent Freshies. The smoke-stack will bear us out on that point. Our activities in the intellectual, religious, social, and athletic side increased, as is expected of all Sophomore classes. Again, we had our various outings and good times. Our contribution to the fame of Juniata was our play, "The Girl with the Green Eyes." And it was after the play that we had our eyes opened, maybe a little bit more rudely than most of the other classes are awakened, but let our experience be as an example to future classes.

In our Junior year we finally awoke to the full responsibility of what was expected of us as Juniata students and prospective alumni. It is in the Junior year that one develops the most in the four years at college. It is here that responsibilities begin and characters are made. The Junior class is the motive power of all student organizations in Juniata as well as other colleges. "The Alfarata" is, and shall be, of an origin from the Junior class. The Junior-Freshmen party is an attempt of the upper classmen to help the new students find their places in the college as easily and as expediently as possible. Of course, with increasing responsibility comes greater prominence, and it is inevitable that it should be so. With leadership comes a greater interest, not only of individuals but of the power that fosters these organizations and individuals; the college, and in order to increase the renown of our fair college, we gave the play, "Ruy Blas," the foremost production from the pen of Victor Hugo.

To the end that we want to live in history, as have other successful classes and individuals, and the fact that we want the fuller, broader training that comes only in the Senior year, that we are eagerly looking forward to the time when we can watch from the lofty pinnacle of "aristocracy" and observe the history that has been told being enacted again by the other classes, in their efforts to achieve distinction by the methods used by their predecessors. And in the future years of history may it be said of the class of 1923, the highest tribute of all:

"The Good that they achieved here will long be remembered."

Her laugh is peculiar, but it indicates a cheerful character and a distinctive personality.

J. HAROLD ENGLE
ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

A youth of experience; ability coupled with personality always wins for him friends and fame.

J. DONALD BRUMBAUGH
HARTVILLE, OHIO

Small but mighty; a leader in every sense of the word; a friend, true to the last and well liked by everybody.

CAROLYN S. LITTLE
DEFIANCE, PA.

Blithe, happy and "cute," she well deserves the name of "Dolly." An asset to any class.

JACK E. OLLER
WAYNESBORO, PA.

For two years our leader; a tower of strength in every activity in which he engages.

ANNA RUTH ESHLEMAN
ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

Ever ready and willing to help. A true friend with a sunny disposition and a kind word for everybody.

LYDIA WITHERS
ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

The naturally talented song-bird of our class. A winning personality and a wonderful voice assure her success.

H. LAURENCE FAHRNEY
FREDERICK, Md.

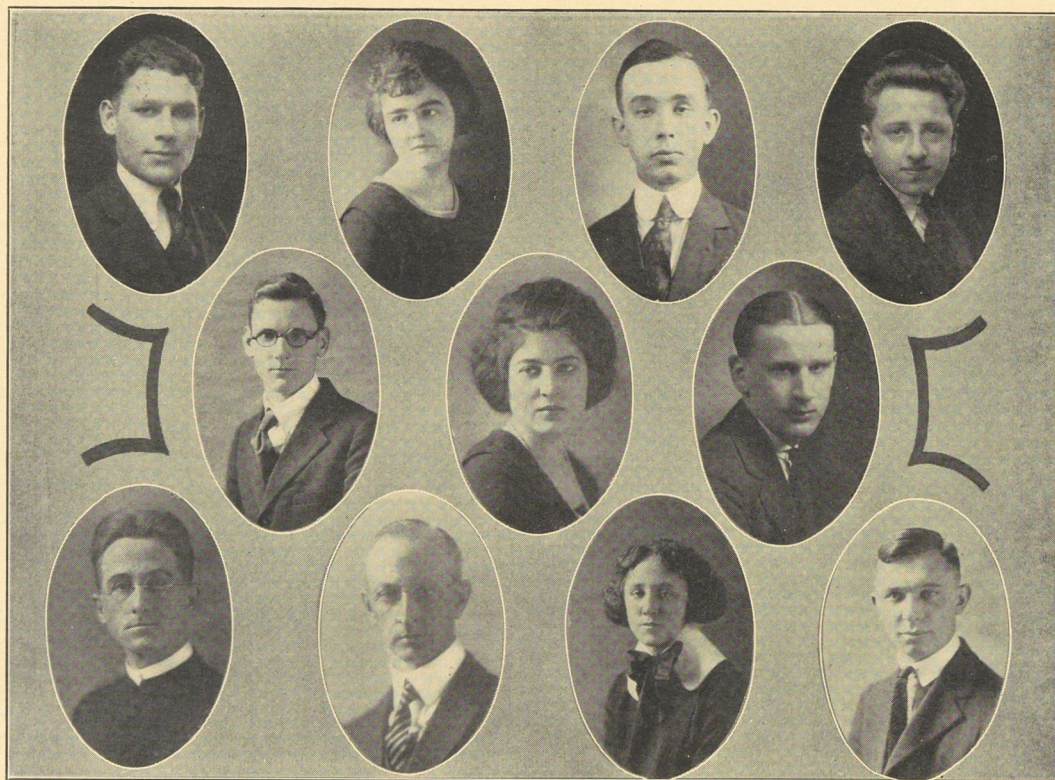

At first glance, a quiet, backward lad; a second look shows an underlying stream of activity; and a last squint shows a powerful working machine.

ROY W. WOLFGANG
TYRONE, PA.

Our all-round athlete and ready worker. Has recently shown a marked interest in intellectual pursuits.

ELIZABETH ROHRBAUGH
HANOVER, PA.

Chiefly a Domestic Science student but also interested in music. Her jolly nature makes her very popular.

WINIFRED M. LUTZ
MOUNT UNION, PA.

An accomplished musician, charming her hearers both with her voice and her accomplishments at the piano.

CALVERT N. ELLIS
HUNTINGDON, PA.

Primarily a student, although prominent in tennis and not a stranger to the reception-room.

CLYDE M. HORST
JOHNSTOWN, PA.

The beloved pastor of the Walnut Grove church in Johnstown. Preparing to help humanity in a larger way.

WILLIAM M. ULRICH
HUNTINGDON, PA.

Formerly pastor in Tyrone. Our friend in counsel and a loyal member of the class.

LEON G. MYERS
HUNTINGDON, PA.

A scholar he never will be, but as a salesman and business man he is still unsurpassed.

LEAH V. MILLER
MARTINSBURG, W. VA.

Interested in science yet she does have time for social functions and campus activities.

CLAIR B. MELOY
HUNTINGDON, PA.

Our most consistent student, also a marvel on the football field. Small in size but great in purpose.

SALOME WITHERS
ELIZABETHTOWN, PA.

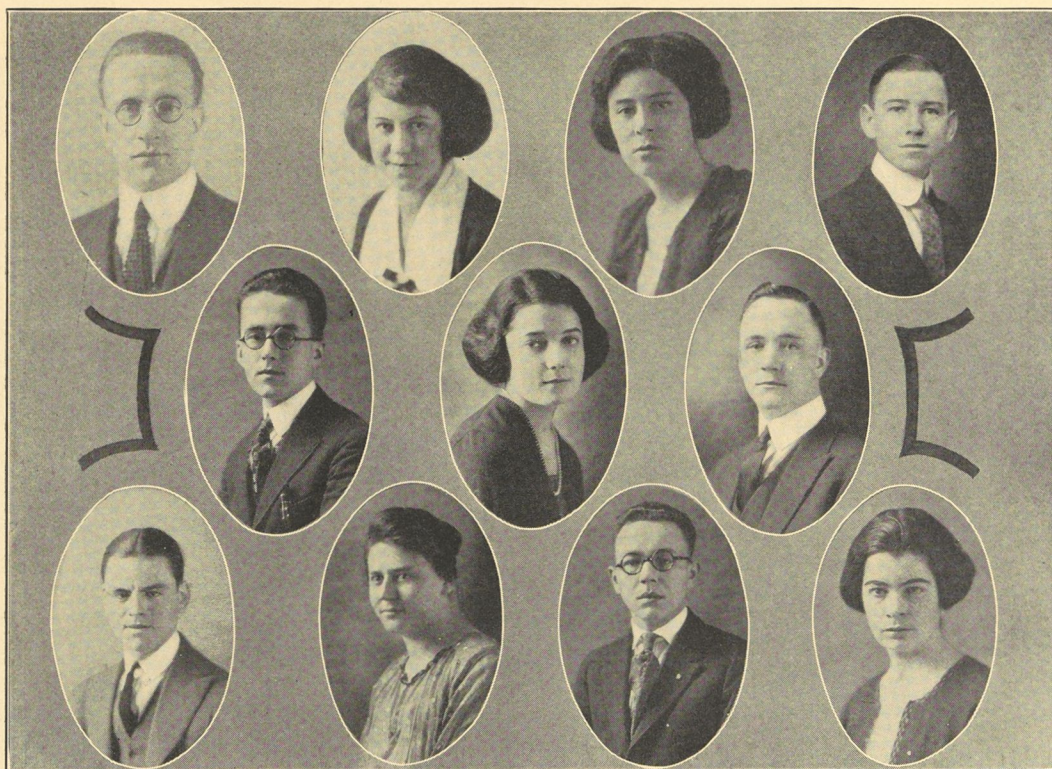

Her winsome ways prove an irresistible attraction. Quiet and demure apparently, but vivacious and lively.

PAUL J. STEIN
EVERETT, PA.

As a doctor his success is assured. A scientific man with baseball and football as types of recreation.

HOMER A. FETHERS
ELDERADO, PA.

CLASS HISTORY

Prologue

Before the Gate of Learning now stands a Baby who already is inquiring what kind of instruction and entertainment have been provided for him. He is not alone; many others will arrive with him. He is not coming as a guest, but as one of the allotted members of a large group. As he enters, may his pathway lead onward, upward, ever to "Success."

Act I

September the fourteenth, nineteen twenty, saw the Class of '24 make its debut on the Juniata campus. Immediately the school and campus was awakened from its age-old sleep, and a tide of "pep" and progress reached the institution nestling in the hills. At last there was a class at Juniata College that did things, and did them well.

What a stalwart-looking band—sixty strong! No wonder the Sophs didn't dare to haze them. Even in the stealth and darkness of night the baffled Sophomores failed to "put one over" on the class of '24. Who of them will ever forget our Freshman Banquet, when it seemed that all the "eats" of McConnelstown were piled up before our hungry eyes?

Among other things, the class of '24 excelled in athletics. We point with pride to eight Varsity members of the football team, and to representatives on all other Varsity teams, besides representation in both College Glee Clubs, Varsity Debate Teams, on the Echo and Alfarata staffs, and in all other school activities. The "pep," strength, and enthusiasm of the "Infant Prodigy" will long be remembered; and so, we started toward the pinnacles of Achievement. The first act closes.

II Prologue

The "Infant Prodigy" is now a child. No more the guiding hand of upperclassman needed, he stands alone before the second Gate of Learning. The Magic Key is in his hand—the Key of Knowledge, slowly welded by his classmates that past Freshman year. Behind him, as before, his comrades stand, with purpose and determination stamped upon their faces. The Key turns in the lock, the Gate swings open, and the "Infant Prodigy" enters upon his career as a Juniata Sophomore.

Act II

History, it is said, repeats itself. So it is with the Class of '24. All the honors of athletics, debate, and scholarship which had been earned the year before were repeated and even increased. Sophomore representatives were on the Echo and Alfarata staffs, in the Glee Clubs, in fact, in every school activity. The increasing dignity (?) acquired through rank did not hinder demonstrations of school "pep" and enthusiasm so characteristic of the class. Early in the year a solemn ceremony was a feature of a football game, at which the dead Freshman past went up in smoke and ashes. It was too bad the Freshies couldn't keep their donkey, but certainly even they could never have used it to better advantage—unless they advocated self-advertisement.

But the dramatic tendency of the Sophs did not stop at tragedy, so they decided to stage Arthur Pinero's English comedy, "Dandy Dick." And to celebrate the success of the play, for of course it was a success, a real old-fashioned Juniata "social" was held in the gymnasium afterwards. There were "eats," speeches, 'n everything, and being the class of '24, of course, everyone had an exceptionally good time.

Such is the life of the Sophomores. Loyal and true to Juniata College, each member of the class strives earnestly to uphold the higher traditions of the school. And as our second year draws to a close, we glance backward, to find the "Infant Prodigy" on tip-toe, peering courageously through the dark portals of the future toward the Third Gate of Learning. And could we but read the Fates—who knows? Upon his brow shall we not see the Juniata stamp—SUCCESS?

FRESHMAN CLASS

We Are Freshmen

Part I

We speak of fresh eggs, fresh fish, fresh bread, fresh buttermilk, but the freshest of fresh things is the Freshman. The Freshman is even fresher than a fresh-water clam. They do not, however, bear that amiable bivalve's reputation for taciturnity; on the contrary, as any Senior will tell you, they represent the antonym of silence, raised to the *n*th degree. The Freshman is, indeed, rather verbose.

When seen through the critical eye of an upperclassman, the Freshman is unsophisticated, or "green"—oh, so very, very green! The erudite Senior views this grass-hued state of the unlearned "Freshy" with amused tolerance; the Junior, with mild contempt; the Sophomore, with open disdain. (The last-named seeks to magnify, by a lofty disdain, the difference between themselves and the common herd.)

The Freshman is likewise crude, like a diamond in the rough, requiring considerable polishing before ready for their setting in the world. But once this necessary process is completed, when the rough edges are ground off, the imperfections smoothed away, and the final artistic touches given,—ah, here is a jewel! Every facet will scintillate with dazzling splendor, and all the world will know that here is a SENIOR.

In the extreme state of freshness—that is when recently arriving at our Seats of Learning—the Freshman reminds one of a young barnyard fowl in its first attempts at flight. Still unfledged, but with an inordinate pride in its sprouting pin-feathers, it seeks to emulate the older birds of the flock by flapping its wings madly in a vain endeavor to soar over the fence. It succeeds only in making itself ridiculous.

So with the Freshman: eager to fly, the lack of feathers only prevents the ability to soar. But being unaware of these limitations, they vociferously flap their wings in the dining-hall, the dormitories, the campus, even attempting an occasional flight under the stern eye of the professor in the classroom. Yes, the Freshman is a bird!

Part II

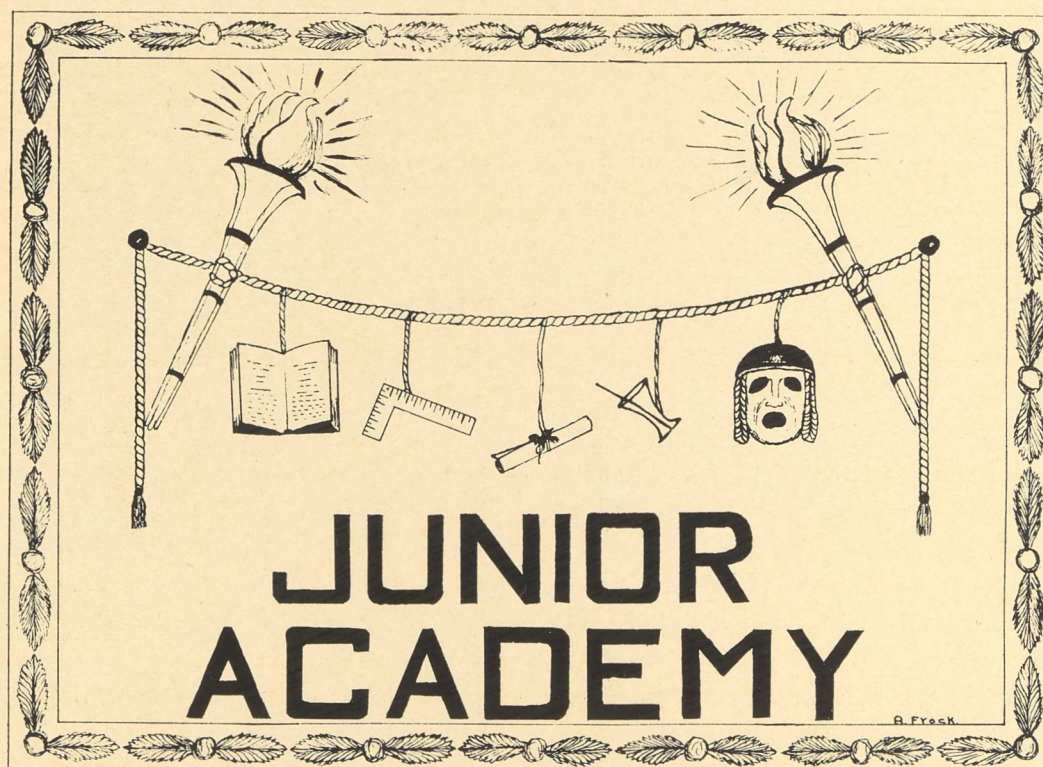

Parents are always proud of their children, no matter what their faults, so Mother Juniata proudly points out her "kiddies"—the Freshmen. Green, boisterous and "peppy" they may be, but think you that after long months spent in learning "how to use their minds," and continuous courses in "campusology" and the like, they may not at some time become as sophisticated as their worthy upperclassmen, who so upbraid them now for their actions? But of course we admit,

It was many and many a year ago,
In an age beyond recall,
When they as lowly Freshmen, sat
At the end of the study hall.

The Freshman has hardly crossed the threshold from infancy into maturity, where, we suppose, the Sophomores proudly consider themselves to be; he is still a Freshman, yet a little more dignified than when he first put in his appearance at Juniata College.

However, we may fool and joke about the Freshie and tease him unmercifully, but what would Juniata do without her Freshmen? What would the Sophomores do without their rivals? Where would the Echo get the target for its slams? Where would Miss Harley get the victims for her reprimands? And, pray, who would wear the green, if not the ardent Freshmen?

Each class, as is only proper and laudable, strives to do its very best for Juniata and to make "its best" the very best. And so, here we are, to express to you, gentle readers, the desire of our green hearts—to make Juniata a bigger, a better, a finer and more honored Juniata for our having been Freshmen!

WE ARE JUNIORS

Juvenile and shy, we slipped into Juniata as Freshmen, fearful lest we be seen. Our frantic attempts to crowd the year with hikes, games, study, and socials might have served to disarrange our temperaments and disqualify us for the finals, but we are glad to relate that our propaganda so impressed our teachers that,—unchallenged, we entered our second year, fostering the belief that the sun shone upon us as Sophomores at the same time that the rain was descending upon Freshmen and Juniors; that life was more rose-colored, even carmine, for us than it could ever be for any other class. Nevertheless, we found that there were times when, influenced by untoward circumstances and unfavorable atmospheric conditions, our responsibilities rested heavily upon us.

In these years we have never side-stepped any plain duty, so we are physical specimens of variegated types of mental equipment.

Onward we go, and if we are not intellectual prodigies we are at least the most promising Junior class the College has ever recognized.

Resolute and faithful to Juniata, our love for her transforms this year to a promenade through a rose-bower drenched with sunshine and morning dew.

Impossible is un-American;
 Onward and upward;
 For value received we promise to pay.

Our Freshman Class

Last September, when the student population entered Juniata, in the wake of a vast procession trailed our Freshman class. We found friends, numerous and alluring, among the boys and girls who have temporarily lost the importance which attaches to them at their various post office addresses. There was friendliness in the air. We came to consider Juniata a "Fountain of Youth" with all the modern attachments. We soon learned that there is nothing to do after sundown but to go to bed; nothing stays out after the retiring bell, except the trees on the campus.

We are undeniably modern, as could be seen by our first program in our Literary Club. It took a new lease on life from that time; our class is considered an accelerator of fun and social affairs. We have a vast respect for our own intellect, and we do not believe that a man must be bent by toil and his locks appear as a cloud of mist before he can be entrusted with responsibilities and honors. The president of our class directs its affairs with the ease and nonchalance of an international executive.

We know that Longfellow is right—life is real and earnest. We are so tremendously intense, so devoted to duty, and so exactly efficient in doing all that becometh a Freshman class that we have attracted the unwilling admiration of even the upperclassmen. As we go on toiling, rejoicing, moving forward shoulder to shoulder, nothing can stop us from becoming a highly specialized product by next June—the Sophomore class of 1923.

We Are Sophomores

From Freshmen, who in all humbleness advanced step by step, we now sit on this altitudinous peak of learning and survey the landscape to see what shall be done next.

We are different; we are not being taken for granted as is sometimes the case. We have a wealth of recent legends and are rich in character types; you should know us intimately to really appraise us at par value. As Sophomores we represent a class in which the members are severally important as individuals and not mere names in the catalogue.

We were considered a brilliant Freshman class but since that time we have developed into something greater. Schedule slaves have found a restful antidote from brain-fag in our class, but our work is interesting and inspiring. Then as to our sports: we are here to win, as witness some of our games and records. Someone, describing our basketball game, said, "It was like riding on the flywheel of an electric light plant."

It is written in the stars that our class is predestined to fame; eagerly we shall take our turn in the marketplace; our future shall be brightened by joint triumphs and exalted by ideals worthy of Juniata.

Historical Word

The dream of those who started Juniata College (founded April 17, 1876) was to establish a place of learning where the atmosphere is truly Christian, where the arts and sciences might be pursued under the light of the Gospel, and where the Bible would be the dominant note throughout. Juniata College did not have a School of Theology in the beginning, but its leaders, Jacob Zuck, James Quinter and H. B. Brumbaugh, all godly men with large vision, always kept that goal in view. Their dream has been realized. By a steady growth the School of Theology has developed into a seminary with a standard faculty and complete courses.

PURPOSE AND AIM

Primarily the purpose of the School of Theology is to prepare men and women to be successful Sunday-school workers, pastors, evangelists, and city, home and foreign missionaries. Its facilities now being better than ever, it invites confidently to its classes those who feel especially called of God to prepare to pursue some definite line of Christian service. Having this aim, a thorough study of the Bible is made, both in the English and in the original languages, to get its mastering truth, to develop a deep spiritual life, and to make strong for service.

Ministerial Association

THE METHOD

The watchword is "Loyalty to the Word." True to this ideal, the student is encouraged to approach the Bible reverently, yet with that open-mindedness which enables him to ascertain the truth, no more, no less. It diligently seeks to be guided in every course by such abiding spiritual forces as a deeper prayer-life, resting all in peaceful trust in Jesus Christ, and the guiding and inspiring power of the Holy Spirit.

As far as possible, without dodging difficulties, it seeks to avoid speculative controversy and accepts the simplest interpretation of the Word in the spirit of Him who said, "Seek ye my face." Naturally the student life is conformed more and more to the will of Him whom he seeks to know.

The spirit of the school is evangelical, pedagogical, and thorough. It seeks practical results. Constant opportunity is given to students for work, both personal and public, by the various Christian organizations of the college and by the churches in and about Huntingdon.

The School of Theology and Juniata College stand for the simple life in Christ Jesus and that the principle should be applied alike in all phases of Christian living. It seeks to develop character and unworldliness through a renewed mind, the real life in Christ Jesus.

Though considerably increased in numbers, our Department boasts no illustrious Seniors for the year 1921-22, for the very good and sufficient reason that instead of breezing blithely and, of necessity, more or less superficially through a two-years' course, we are now forging our way through a more intensive and edifying, to say nothing of enjoyable, four-years' program.

We are all busy and contented; if we do shed a few tears over Dr. Wagner's generous assignments in Chemistry, they are soon forgotten in the pride and self-appreciation over our artistic creations in the more immediate realm of Household Arts. We fashion the most decorative and useful baskets and trays from great lengths of reed and raffia; we paint exquisite jars and bowls and vases just the proper color and design to add the final touch to the rooms we plan in Interior Decoration.

Our dainty, fluffy frocks, of all materials, shades, and styles, and our neat "tailor-mades" makes Reed's "Ready-to-Wear" Department unnecessary. In the Millinery Department we make such lovely, clever creations—big hats, little hats, silk hats, all colors and all styles, a chic model for every frock and that for almost nothing, because we do it ourselves.

But perhaps best and most practical of all is our big, airy, well-equipped Cooking Department where we concoct those delectable, toothsome dainties, fancy and attractive salads and desserts, which would make the mouth of Sherry's own chef water—so the boys assure us. Such serious though helpful studies as Home Nursing, Cooking, and Dietetics are relieved by the occasional guest breakfast, trustee luncheon, or faculty dinner it is our delight to plan, prepare, and serve.

Our chief satisfaction, however, in following out this course as outlined, lies in our increasing ability to grasp and understand the systematic, scientific principles underlying the art of Domestic Economy.

••••• JUNIATA COLLEGE •

The School of Music has maintained a healthy growth through the years. The heads of the departments have endeavored to develop the school and make it to function in the life of the College. Although their efforts have been unostentatious, many of the other teachers and students occupying rooms in close proximity to the practice-rooms will not admit that it has been done quietly.

At the opening of school in September the President asked Miss Douthett, Professor Rowland, and Dr. Wagner to give an opening concert. The latter is head of the Chemistry Department of the College, and appeared for the first time as cellist before a Juniata audience. His work was artistic and genuine and was well received by the audience. The concert filled a unique place in the school year and helped introduce Juniata and some of her ideals to the new students.

The enrollment in the school has been well above that of last year and has bright hope for next year as judged by the interest shown towards the Department.

The Music Club, one of the clubs of the Lyceum, proved to be of inestimable help and impetus to the students of the Department, who were called upon for public performance in the many programs of the college year.

Miss Winifred Lutz, Public School Music Course '21, assisted in the Department of Singing by teaching the Academy class sight-reading and elementary theory.

The class in Music Appreciation has been of peculiar interest to the students of the College, and was taught by Miss Douthett whose wide experience in teaching and concert work assured a strong course.

Much interest has been manifested in the Public School Music Course, seven students having done work in the course this year.

Voice Students

Among the activities of the School of Singing, the Glee Clubs played an important role. The Men's Club carried out a larger series of concerts this year than last. Their big trip was again in the region of Johnstown. One program was advertised as "The Biggest Show Ever in —". On the Johnstown trip, Mr. R. T. Wolfgang, of Tyrone, served the Club as reader. He has since then been recalled for several evening entertainments in this region.

The Ladies' Club conquered such towns as Belleville and Marklesburg, and covered much of the territory about Johnstown previously visited by the men. On their return they sang in the 28th Street Church in Altoona.

The College Chorus sang "The Rose Maiden," December 5, and the "Creation," April 18. Several out-of-town soloists were used, but it is the policy of the director to use the students of the Department whenever possible. Those of the students who did solo work in these productions did much credit to themselves and the Department. The College orchestra, consisting of twelve pieces, played the accompaniments. Mr. Winston Lyle did very commendable work as pianist.

During commencement week the Girls' Glee Club sang the "Japanese Girl," a dramatic cantata. This was picturesque and dainty, providing good humor and a bit of patriotism.

Piano Students

For not a moment have the musically interested students and teachers at Juniata allowed their spirits to lag, and this year we find a wide-awake Music Department. On the first night of the 1921-22 school year, Dr. Wagner, Miss Douthett, and Professor Rowland gave a most charming program of cello, piano, and vocal music.

Under the careful supervision of Miss Douthett, the Piano Department has been steadily built up to a high standard. Miss Winifred Lutz stands as the only piano graduate of this year. However, because of credit being allowed for music on the A.B. course, more college students than ever before are working toward the completion of the piano course.

Besides her most excellent work here at the College, Miss Douthett has frequent calls for outside entertainments which prove her high efficiency. Several times this year she has accompanied John Barnes Wells, the noted tenor, and her most excellently rendered selections at State College on Pennsylvania Day must not be forgotten. Under such capable hands the Department cannot do otherwise than flourish.

Miss Elizabeth Boyd, Piano '19, is assisting in the Department by teaching the course in History of Music.

The Commercial Department was first organized in 1891. A combined Bookkeeping and Shorthand Course was offered until 1915. The course was a good one but it was so extensive that it was impossible for the student to do intensive work in any one subject; so in 1915 the course was divided into the Shorthand Course and the Bookkeeping Course.

During the school year 1921-22 there were forty-eight students enrolled in the various commercial courses, with nine graduates in the Shorthand Course and three in the Bookkeeping Course.

From early in the morning until late in the afternoon you could readily locate our Department by the steady hum of the typewriters. The days seemed far too short for the long and varied assignments, yet we felt the joy of achievement as we finished one task and began another.

The dollar was so elusive that we very frequently had trouble in balancing our accounts. The call for a Trial Balance caused many a heart to quake, but the most experienced bookkeeper has his troubles, so we took courage and tried again. And as we sharpened our pencils and filled page after page with strange-looking hieroglyphics, we were interested and thrilled by the fascinating art of shorthand, even though it was sometimes hard to decipher.

No busy office could afford more variety than our courses gave us. As we hurried from Wills, Deeds, and Mortgages to Telegrams and Dictation, we felt as though we were already playing an active part in life. We made our courses practical by doing much clerical work for different organizations on College Hill.

On March 20 we were entertained and inspired with a demonstration by Miss Bessie Friedman, the second fastest typist in the world. This remarkable performance inspired us to greater activity and we are working with the hope that some of our number may win medals in the next few years.

Our aim has always been thorough and efficient work; and when we graduated in June we had the satisfaction of knowing that our year had been a busy and a happy one.

The Echo is the only publication of Juniata College edited by student editors and managed by student managers.

The content of the journal differs widely from cover to cover. The Echo aims to maintain a literary department of high grade, to portray vividly the events which occur from time to time about the College, and also to provide spice and humor. All this the Echo strives to do in the form of an attractive and well-balanced magazine.

The Echo's service is vast and far-reaching. To the alumni and friends of the College, its duty is to report briefly the current happenings of College Hill, as well as those of the world which directly involve the many members of the Juniata family. Furthermore, the magazine serves as the official campus organ, and as a vehicle of expression for the literary efforts of the student body. And, finally, to all who are interested in the College, the Echo's function is to promulgate the spirit of Juniata.

The Lyceum Clubs

"Going to join our Club?" "Surely." "I thought so. Some society, isn't it? Jolliest one of the bunch—we certainly do make things hum!"

Thus spoke an enthusiastic upperclassman to a little Freshie one day in January. For, you see, the Freshies belong to their own Freshman Club until the second semester, and then a grave decision must be made! After they have proved their worth, what friendly rivalry exists between the older Clubs in gaining new members! The upperclassmen, of course, are all enrolled in one of the College Clubs, and then, once a month, when all the Clubs have a joint meeting, representatives from each society comprise a program.

Long ago, when our fathers and mothers were students at Juniata, they were all members of one big society—Lyceum. But Clubs change with the times, and we now have the advantage over them, for our Lyceum is divided into four large Clubs: the English, History and Social Science, Music, and Science, and we are now privileged to enroll in the one covering fields in which we are most interested. Often it is hard to decide, for all have splendid memberships, capable faculty advisors, and not only entertaining, but instructive, programs. So it is small wonder that the Freshmen are a bit bewildered during the "rush" season by the enthusiastic Lyceum members, all eager to gain recruits for their Clubs.

It is a Friday evening—Club night at Juniata. Let us take a peep in the Boys' Clubroom, for the peals of laughter coming from there sound as if the History and Social Science Club were not quite so serious as the name implies. Members hasten to assure us, however, that they were just listening to a little discourse upon a sociological study.

"Lights in the Library!—and on a Friday night, too! What can it mean?" "English Club meeting!" We hurry over and find the members enjoying a most enlightening program upon the origin of language. Tarrying a while we listen to several interesting talks, which, wonder of wonders, we are able to comprehend without much reference to our little pocket edition of Webster.

As we climbed the stairs of Science Hall, where the Science Club was holding its meeting, I wondered if the members of this society would be confined exclusively to the men of the College. But here I was mistaken, for we found a group of wide-awake girls, as well as the men, taking active part in the discussions of the evening. I wouldn't have minded remaining there the rest of the evening, but curiosity tempted me too much, and I started out for the Music Club.

It met in Miss Douthett's studio on Fourth Hall—and I climbed and climbed and climbed. As I neared the top, the strains of a violin drifted through the air, and I knew that my labor would be amply rewarded—and indeed it was. Not only did the Club offer a splendid musical program, but there were most interesting discussions of great musicians.

In fact, my short visit to the Clubs of the Lyceum did much to awaken me to a fuller appreciation of the influence of this Club life on the average college man and woman. Ability, loyalty, service—all have aided in stimulating ideas and high ambitions in the members of the organizations.

So let us voice the sentiment of all Juniata students in a little plea for our Lyceum. May this be our creed: "We uphold the various Clubs of the Lyceum, regarding them as channels through which we may further develop our sense of the great and beautiful in art and music and literature and increase our knowledge of civic responsibilities and privileges."

Then, too, think of the good time we have every year when the Lyceum takes its annual outing or "Ausflug!" How we did eat the chicken and waffles at Petersburg this year, and what a good time we had!

MOTTO: We Know No Zenith

OBJECT: For our mental improvement, the entertainment of our friends, and the cultivation of the amenities of social life.

At a meeting of the Trustees, Faculty, and students of Juniata College, January, 1892, it was decided that a committee be appointed to draft resolutions whereby the Eclectic Literary Society as a regular active organization should discontinue, and that her daughter societies, the Oriental, and the Wahneta become the representative societies of the Academy. From that time on we have survived the many storms and battles of the period, while our sister society, the Wahneta, not being able to withstand the hardships of the journey, dropped by the wayside, leaving the quest to us.

Last year an attempt was made to revive this society, but the law of the survival of the fittest reigned, and it is still in the state of the forgotten. During our journey thus far we have twice had our constitution revised so that we may be considered as keeping with the time and not allowing our Club to become a "back number."

The training which we received by taking part in the programs can only be measured by a backward look at the lives of those who have lived and served before us and are now out battling with the many difficulties of the great world. We may not have succeeded as well as we have desired in our attempts—success always lies in the beyond—but we must look to the future and see what the training of the past will do for us.

The Debating Club

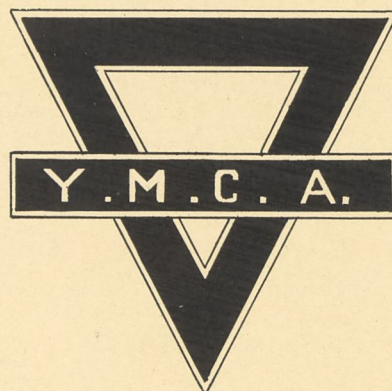

The Debating Club, which was organized last year, has become one of the largest, if not the largest, Club on the campus. It is not under the jurisdiction of the Lyceum, hence can draw its members from the best talent of the school, regardless of whether or not they belong to another Club.

The Club has for its avowed purpose the increase of interest in collegiate and intercollegiate debating. It aims to do this by holding frequent public debates, both for their own value, for the training of debaters, and to interest people in debating.

The Program Committee has so arranged that no member is required to speak on the side of a question in which he does not believe. Cleverness of speech or phrasing a thought should not be apart from sincere and honest conviction. The Committee makes a special effort to have questions of present-day interest, intelligently understood and debated by the Club.

Juniata College has a splendid record in debate. Her representative teams have won unusual laurels in years past. The Club desires that there will be more gained in the future and believes that adequate preparation must necessarily pave the way.

But, beyond this idea of successful competition is the one that the world needs clear, honest, deep thought adequately expressed. This is the final goal. Some small measure of attainment may be gained in developing good habits of thought and expression. This is our task.

Juniata College Y. M. C. A.

One of the organizations which Juniatiens keep in mind, long after they have left College halls, is the Y. M. C. A. It has always stood for the physical, social, mental, and spiritual development of young men. The Association takes no small part in maintaining these qualities among the students of the College.

The past year has been no exception in following the pace set by the organization in former years. The programs of the regular Sunday evening meetings have been varied and interesting. Different members of the faculty have addressed us from time to time, and at other meetings members have taken part in helpful discussions.

Through the Y. M. C. A., the presence of Mr. George Irving was secured for a few days in January. In his masterful way of dealing with young people, he left an indelible impression. He emphasized the Christian life and the importance of having a purpose and ideal in life.

The Y. M. C. A. instituted this year the plan of an annual banquet in honor of the football team. The first banquet was held in the evening of November 19.

That the Association may continue and grow in its field of service is the desire of every member.

Juniata College Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. is an organization that stands for the ideals and principles of the Christian girls of Juniata, having for its aim, "Others."

Last year Juniata was represented at the summer conference at Eagles Mere by two of our loyal girls, who brought back with them many new thoughts and ideas for the coming year. Next summer we are looking forward to sending more girls to this conference. To accomplish this end, the Y. W. holds food-sales during the year, the proceeds of which are added to the Eagles Mere fund which is growing rapidly.

Our activities during the year were many. We have had the privilege of having heart-to-heart talks with the Faculty members and workers who visited us during the year. Baskets were distributed on Thanksgiving day as is the custom. We had our "Santa Claus" at the Orphans' home and many of the girls adopted an orphan. Our annual Christmas Bazar brought us a nice amount of money which was used for mission purposes. The girls go out on Sunday in groups to cheer the aged folks of the town by singing or reading to them. The activities of the year help to develop the best in all of the girls. This year we revised the constitution and we are now recognized by the National Board.

The purpose of our organization is:

- 1st. To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.
- 2d. To lead them into membership and service in the Christian Church.
- 3d. To develop their belief in the Christian faith and character, especially through the study of the Bible.
- 4th. To influence them to devote themselves, in united effort with all Christians, to making the will of Christ effective in human society, and to extending the Kingdom of God throughout the world.

History and Purpose

The Volunteer Band is made up of consecrated young men and women who realize that the real secret of greatness lies in unselfish service. Believing that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and knowing that God has a plan for every life, these young people have earnestly and prayerfully sought to know these plans for their lives. Having reached the conviction that theirs was to be a spiritual ministry, they have banded together for spiritual coöperation and preparation for life's work.

As an organization, the Band aims to promote missionary activity among the students, and to help young people find their life-work. Acting in accordance with these purposes, the Band has followed its usual plan of sending deputations to various churches, at their request, for the purpose of propagating the ideals of missionary service in the communities which these churches represent. The deputations, consisting of mixed quartettes, present messages of the Gospel by word and song. The offerings received by the Band through these deputations are used to help support a missionary on the India field and to promote other missionary activities.

One business meeting and three public meetings of the Band are regularly held each month.

But of all the influences which help to make Christ supreme in the life of the volunteer, none is more valuable than prayer. To foster the spirit of prayer, private devotional meetings are held every Sunday morning. During the revival meetings of the local church the Band held daily prayer services in the Stone Church.

COACH KICHLINE

Football

Football training started with a rush of "pep" the opening day. For two weeks the practice was continued with no coach. The plans to secure an athletic director had fallen through and here was the situation: Juniata faced a hard schedule, the first game with Dickinson College to be played in a week, and still no coach. Then, with a burst of joy, the squad and students rose with open arms to welcome a real, true blood and bone coach. Indeed, it was fortunate that the College was able to secure Coach Kichline to head Athletics.

Mr. Kichline is a graduate of Ursinus College and made a name for himself as a football player on their championship team. He has had five years of successful coaching experience at Mansfield Normal.

To say the least, the coach faced a very difficult proposition at Juniata. The team was scheduled to play some of the strongest teams of Central Pennsylvania. The first game was to be played inside of a week. The material was raw, in fact not a player had played more than one year of college football. It was useless to install a system of complex plays, so Coach Kichline wisely gave the team straight, simple football.

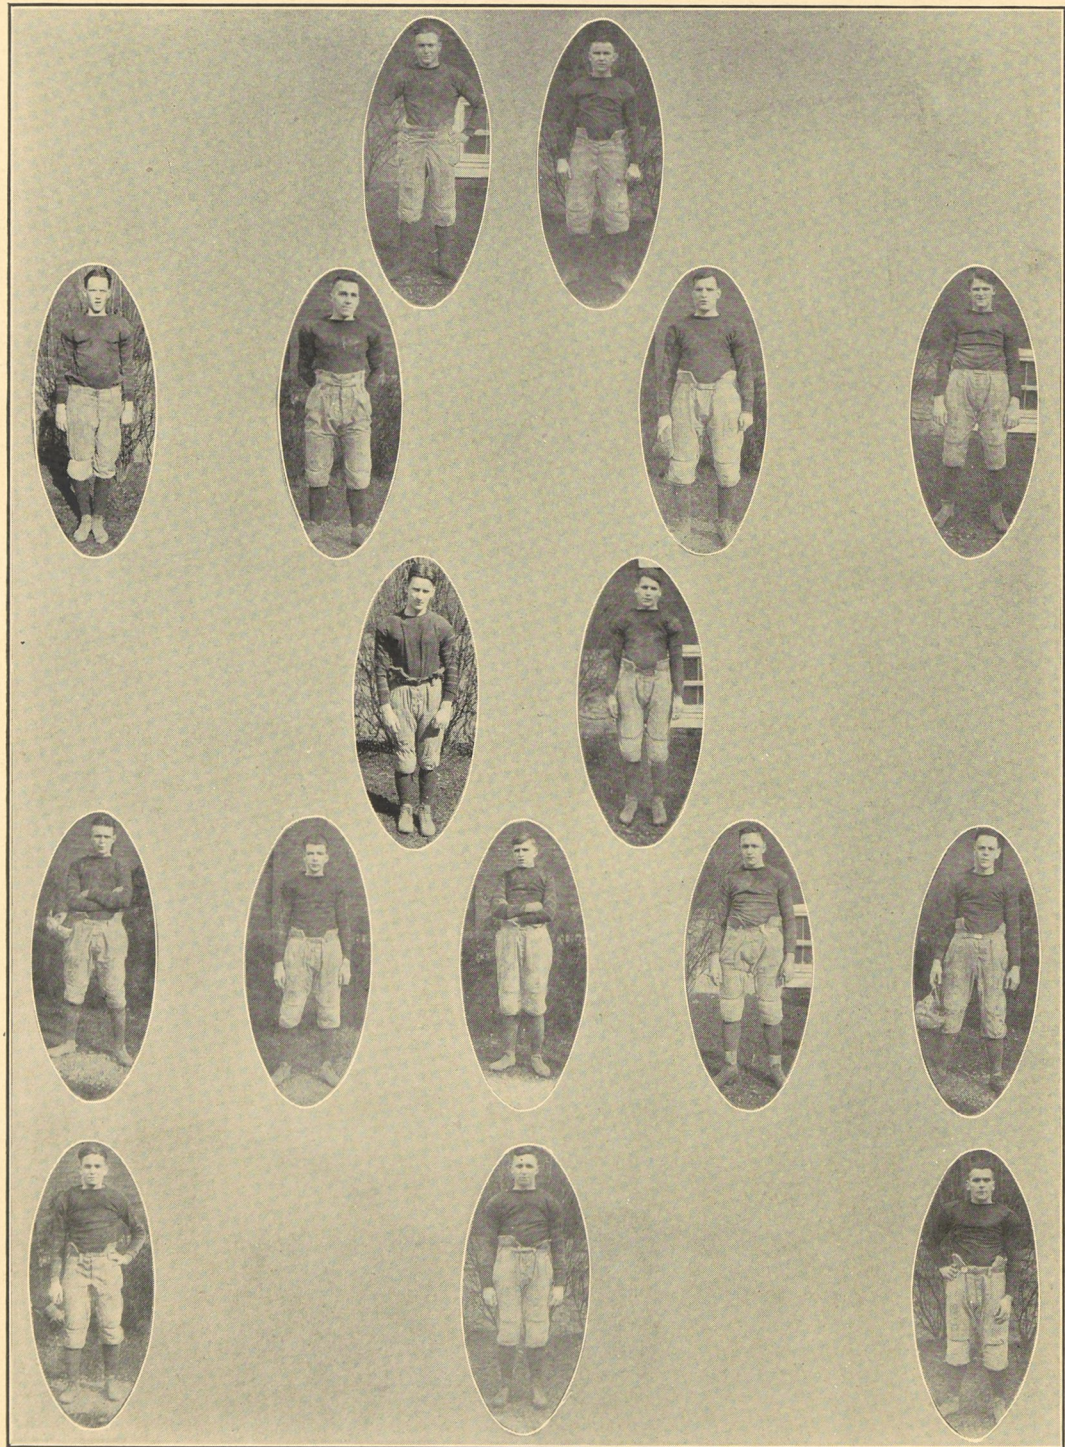

In looking back upon the season there seems to be one predominant quality that developed and grew stronger and bigger with every day of Mr. Kichline's coaching. This was not a series of new plays nor new methods of attack: it was the building up of a fine sort of spirit. He constantly pointed out that a fellow must have more than a skillful handling of his body and the ball—more than a wide experience of football tackles: he must have a loyal, fighting spirit for his team and for his school. All in all, Coach Kichline came nearer to inspiring his team with an undying spirit than to developing a faultless eleven. Looking over and beyond the disheartening defeats of the early season, we can see in the Thiel game the final proof of this man's work. That game was the best game of the season. It was the opening of a new era for the Juniata team, even though it was the closing game.

The Players

NOLAN

"Mike" made one of the best ends Juniata has put on the field. He is fast, strong, and a sure tackle. His solid physique puts him in front line as an end hard to circle.

CUNNINGHAM

Although young in football experience, "Cunny" had the grit and punch to hold down a position at end. He has a future before him even though handicapped by lack of size, and weight.

HOWE

Here is a man hard to beat. As a guard he was always reliable and never failed to produce the goods. We all know his quiet, uncomplaining manner, and we also recognize in Howe one of the mainstays of Juniata's line.

OLLER

A good hard player is Jack. He has an unconquerable spirit, a "pep" that was felt by every player during a hard-fought game. He is a strong tackler; seldom did he fail to break through and make his mark.

WALTER GROVE

He is a big fellow for whom nothing but praise is due. A hard-working, cheerful guard, he has a bright outlook ahead if he continues the class of football play which he started this year.

ED. GROVE

Although handicapped by an injured ankle, the big man of the team was a real rock of defense in the line. Grove played well and his absence from guard was always felt.

MILLER

"Alabama Joe" is one of the hardest men to displace on the J. C. line-up. He was particularly strong on defensive work.

STEIN

The best evidence of Stein's ability as a player is expressed as follows: Captain of the 1922 squad. As a center, this man is hard to beat. He is strong, steady, and a terror to every opponent.

McCANN

Last year, several fellows got their first contact with football. McCann is one of them. He played a good game on the line, and when Henry got mad a real scrap started and lasted throughout the game.

MELOY

The side lines, time and time again, were thrilled by the high-class playing that the little "quarterback" carried on. He is small, fast, and sure; safety against any breakaways. As a substitute for Donelson, he filled the quarterback position with remarkable ability.

PLAYERS, continued

DONELSON

The mainstay of the team we find in Captain Donelson. He was out of the game for nearly a month on account of injuries, and his absence was a serious blow to Juniata's chances of victory. A better player and a better leader than the "coon dog" will be hard to find.

WOLFGANG

"Pee-Wee" was a strong, hard-hitting halfback. He certainly wrecked the line when he hit it, and was exceptionally good at breaking up forward passes.

CONRAD

It is not easy to tell in a few words the quality of playing that this light-weight quarterback put into the season's work. "Conry" is a jewel on defensive tackling. Seldom does he fail to strike at the right moment.

HANAWALT

In this sturdy youth Juniata had one of the fastest men in her line-up. He played at half and was a "shark" at end running.

RICHARD SNYDER

Who is the sub-fullback? Dick, of course. This well-built, little fellow is one of the "pepiest," grittiest backfielders that ever fought for J. C. He played a splendid game at "full," his quick, sure, brainy playing making up for his lack of experience.

DWIGHT SNYDER

When it comes to showing the opposition their place, none is better fitted; and our fullback Dwight was a mountain of strength on the 1921 combination, despite the fact that he carried injuries throughout the season. Dwight was our hardest worker and most conscientious player and next year will see him fighting harder.

NELSON

"Cy" did more for the team, perhaps, by his persistent spirit of fight which he instilled into the second team. He was sub-guard on the Varsity.

 November 18—Thiel College at Greenville.

Basketball

After a few days rest from the football grind, Coach Kichline issued a call for all basketball candidates. For the first time for many years in the history of the institution, the Juniata coach was confronted with the rare opportunity of having several men for the same position, men who were of equal calibre.

After winning three games from nearby professional teams, the coach thought his team well able to break into the collegiate schedule, so the team took their annual journey to State, and, alas, returning with the same result as of former years.

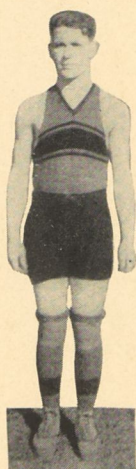

Although, as far as individual ability was concerned, the team rated high, they failed to consistently work well together. However, the Blue and Gold wearers played well at home, being on the wrong end of only two scores.

Despite the fact that the team met hard luck on account of injuries on every trip that they took, a higher percentage of games was won on foreign floors than we have ever won before. Several bitter defeats in football were wiped out by our men on the basketball floor.

As much interest was shown in the Alumni game this year as last. The team profited by their experience of last year and showed no mercy from the time of the first whistle to the end. The Alumni team was composed of the following: Manbeck, J. F. Oller, Wright, Butts, Beckley and Beachley.

JACK OLLER, CAPTAIN (Guard)

Jack is a wonder of a guard. He always plays a clean, consistent game and when the final whistle blows his man's record is very slender indeed. As a back guard he is unsurpassed in breaking up shots and getting the ball off the banking board. With Jack as Captain, the team always fought hard and played a clean game in a sportsman's fashion.

EDWIN DONELSON (Forward)

"Eddie" was our most consistent point-getter. His tallies from the field were always timely, and you could depend upon it that his guard had to always keep an eye on him, for you never could tell how he was going to make his goal. The Alumni game saw "coon dog" at his best with twelve field-goals to his credit.

HAROLD ENGLE (Forward)

"Hardy" is our lightest player, but instead of his size being a handicap it is an asset. His guards find it a hard job indeed to follow him around the floor. It is his chief delight to run up to and snatch the ball from a larger opponent. His speed is the cause of many two-point tallies for Juniata. Injuries kept him from playing the whole season.

JOSEPH SHAUTE (Center)

Joe is the big man of our team and plays the pivot position well. His left hand has wrested many a goal from the opposing player. Although Joe did not always get the tip-off, he was a tower of strength in floor-work and could always be depended on for his share of field-goals when they were needed.

CARL HOFFMAN (Guard)

"Hoffy" is one of the most aggressive men on the team. He took to the game so seriously that oftentimes his opponents thought him to be slightly rough. He is our foul tosser, and many a time he has left us on the long end of a score with but very few points margin due mainly to his superb record of free throws. His regular position was that of guard, but when called upon to play forward, he filled the position admirably.

ROY W. WOLFGANG (Guard)

"PeeWee" early in the season decided to quit basketball, but as the season wore on he seemed to regret his resolution and finally when a call came from the team for him to help out he was there, back in his old stride, and proved a bulwark of defense. His agility, together with his physique, proved always to be a force which no opponent could quite meet. We find him at the end of the season, in the game again and going as strong as ever.

PAUL HOLSINGER (Center)

Paul is so tall that you could count on him to get the tip-off every time from the opposing center. His playing is not spectacular but he was a very dependable floor man and especially sure of his shots under the basket. This is Paul's last year, and the year in which he developed marvelously in basketball. Given another year this tall center would be a wonder on the basketball floor.

RICHARD SNYDER (Guard)

This blond-haired youth is the real find of the season. Dick has the form and build of a real basketball player. Big things are expected of him in his remaining years at Juniata.

BASEBALL SQUAD, 1921

Baseball

After a lapse of three years, Juniata again stepped into its former stride in the sport of baseball. Although the fellows had worked hard the previous season, the lack of a skillful tutor was much felt. The Athletic Association realized this need and last year secured the services of J. Ward Putt, a former player and a successful athletic leader at Juniata. Putt proved to be a brainy coach and a hard conscientious worker.

After playing a profitable pre-season series of games with Mt. Union professionals, Juniata opened her intercollegiate schedule with a bang by stacking bats against State. The game proved to be one of the best contests staged on the Blue and Gold diamond for a number of years. However, our boys were compelled to go down to defeat, but not a disgraceful one.

The invasion of the West was rather disastrous last year. On the first day out, St. Vincent completely outclassed us in a one-sided slugging-match. The team apparently recovered from this blow by the time they reached Waynesburg. Here, for the second time of the season, Juniata registered a win over the college in the midst of many circles.

Bucknell and Juniata staged perhaps the most weird and freakish series of any two baseball clubs of collegiate rank. Juniata disgraced herself wonderfully at Lewisburg on Decoration day, only to come back on Commencement Day by playing big league ball—we completely outclassed Bucknell to the tune of 10 to 1.

Long before the sap started in the spring, Coach Kichline had his pitchers warming up in the "gym," in preparation for the coming season. With Donelson, Snyder, and "Joe" Shaute, a new man this year, "Kick" has a strong nucleus around which to build his team.

As the days passed, the team grew until, at the time that the "Alfarata" goes to press, the "gym" is swarming with a wealth of good baseball material. Hoffman, who is out for the catcher's position, is perhaps showing up in better form than any other member. The catcher has rather a unique duty, but, we believe "Hoffy" will serve admirably. Oller, Meloy, and Wolfgang all of the old Varsity gang, are also straightening out their kinks, and big things are expected from these promising ball players. Lehman has been elected to captain the nine, and no worthier leader could be found. His ability as a ball-player will be better understood when we state that some big league managers are waiting outside the school-gate for him.

Manager Stein has this year arranged the heaviest schedule ever attempted at Juniata. "Ich" is going east and west this year on four trips, to meet representative schools from each section. The teams visiting the local diamond this spring are all strong opponents, and we will see in action Lebanon Valley, Gettysburg, Bucknell, Bethany, and Carnegie Tech.

TRACK SQUAD, 1921

TRACK

The spring of 1921 found an increase in the attention to track and field sports at Juniata. Coach J. Clyde Stayer early announced a schedule of three meets in which Juniata would take part. This resulted in the turn-out of a larger and more promising squad of scantily clad athletes than the College Field had witnessed for some time.

J. CLYDE STAYER, COACH

With snappy training and try-outs, the candidates soon began to differentiate: some excelled in the dashes and broad and high jumps; others showed remarkable form in the weight events and distance runs. Ross Rhine, a man of much experience, was chosen as captain for the year.

The first contest of the season which Juniata entered was the classic Penn Relays, at Philadelphia, on April 30. For our relay team were chosen "Hardy" Engle, John Montgomery, "Shark" Miller, and Preston Hanawalt. "Joe" Weaver made the trip as a substitute. The team held a fourth place in an event of five entries.

On Saturday, May 21, the Blue and Gold track squad pitted themselves against the Altoona Y. M. C. A. team on College Field. J. C. was outscored 50 to 66. Engle was the high-score man, with 18 points, taking first place in the broad and high jumps and the 220-yard dash, and second place in the 100-yard dash. Emigh won the discus and the shot-put, Hanawalt the 220-yard hurdle event, and was jumped at the tape on the 440-yard dash by the Altoona quarter-miler. Miller held the second honors in the mile and the half-mile. Other point-winners were Snyder in the weights and D. Hanawalt in the hurdles.

The most important of Juniata's three track meets during the season was the one held at Harrisburg on May 30 by the Track and Field Association of the Colleges of Middle Pennsylvania. Coach Stayer led a team of five men to this congress of athletes: Engle, P. Hanawalt, Miller, Palmer, and Snyder.

Engle experienced some ill luck in the dashes and was eliminated, but in the broad and high jumps he distinguished himself and Juniata, and accumulated four points for the Blue and Gold. "Shark" Miller ran a race with the best of the distance men and added one more point to J. C., with a fourth place in the mile. Hanawalt was eliminated in the low hurdles and fell just short of placing in the quarter-mile finals. Palmer and Snyder contributed their best efforts but were outclassed by very worthy contestants. So Juniata's share of the points in this meet was five. J. C. was not the least among their opponents, however.

The greatest success of 1921 was the material which it prepared for the following spring of 1922.

TENNIS TEAM, 1921

TENNIS

The season of 1921 was a banner one for tennis at Juniata. The College was represented for the first time in its history by an intercollegiate tennis team. Enthusiastic wielders of the racket had advocated forming a tennis team for several years, but it had never come to pass. Early last spring several of these enthusiasts got together and besought the faculty to support an intercollegiate team. The petition was granted and plans were at once put under way for the arranging of a schedule. After Easter vacation, try-outs were held, and following a tournament of very closely contested matches, the four men were chosen to constitute the team. These men were, in the order of their playing ability, Jesse Stayer, John Kaylor (Captain), Calvert Ellis, and Edward van Ormer.

Through the efforts of Jesse Stayer, manager, a fine schedule of six tournaments was arranged. As the first intercollegiate tennis team to represent the college, this one did remarkably well. The whole team displayed a style of tennis which was of an exceptional order, considering the fact that they could find nobody about the institution who knew enough about the sport to act as a coach. It was pleasing to note the way in which the student body supported this new sport and new team. Interested crowds gathered on the hill courts to witness all the home tournaments. A feature of these tournaments was the hard, steady playing of Jesse Stayer, singles champion of Juniata for three years. He was defeated only once during the entire schedule. Through the hard and energetic work of the entire team, four out of the six tournaments were won by our men. The other three members of the team showed styles of tennis, which though divergent indeed, were far above the ordinary type of tennis seen around Juniata. Ellis and van Ormer, and Stayer and Kaylor, paired together in "doubles," made two exceedingly strong teams. This quartet carried through in an astonishing way the following schedule of tournaments, consisting of both "doubles" and "singles."

1921 SCHEDULE

Bellefonte Academy	Away	5	0	J. C.

With three of the 'Varsity men of last year, Jesse Stayer, Calvert Ellis, and Edward van Ormer still with us, the 1922 season promises to be an interesting one. There are many accurate and speedy wielders of the racket who showed marked ability in contests last fall and who will make some hot conflicts for the fourth place on the team. Through the efforts of Jesse Stayer, captain and manager for this year, the following tentative schedule, which will be augmented by several more tournaments, has been arranged for this season.

Physical Training

The College has provided spacious room and ample equipment for all athletics. The athletic field, tennis courts, and gymnasium provide ample space for physical development in every form and for all students.

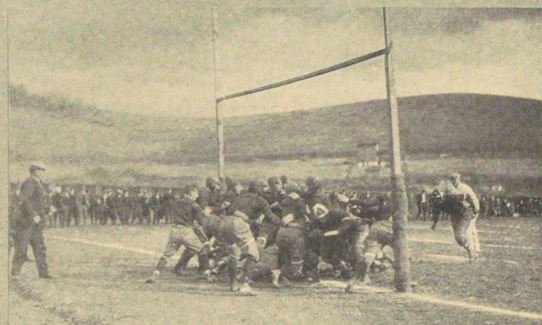

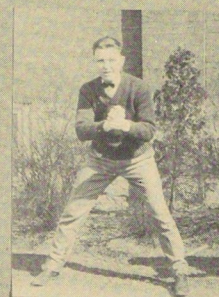

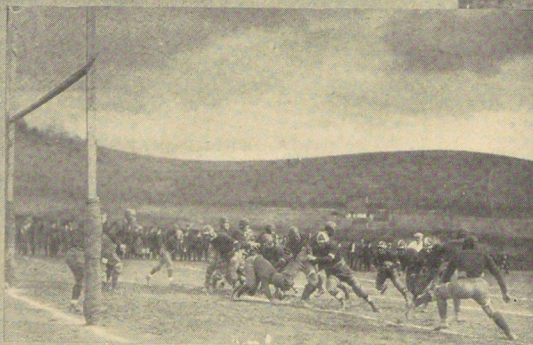

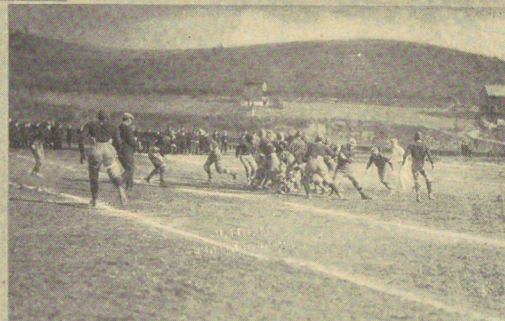

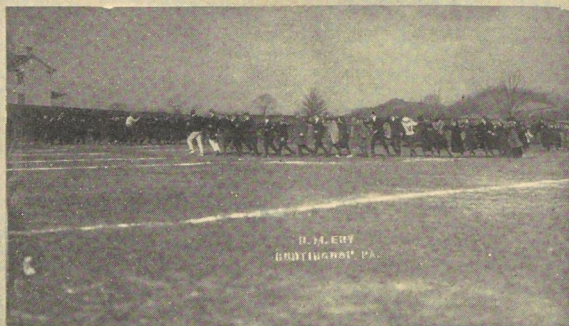

The primary reason for attending college is to acquire knowledge, but this knowledge should not be attained at the expense of the physical power. Realizing this fact, the College employs a director to supervise the various athletic activities and to give forms of exercise to those who do not participate in athletics.

The faculty and trustees of the College have officially sanctioned intercollegiate football, basketball, tennis, baseball, and track events. However, these sports only reach a favored few of the group of athletically inclined, so classes in gymnasium work are organized so that everyone may have a chance to keep "fit." All Freshman and Sophomores, men and women, are required to complete a course in military drill and calisthenics, unless engaged in one of the sports above mentioned. In this system, all students, except those physically unfit, are aided to develop the physical side of their nature.

Juniata has a beautiful modern gymnasium, and although the school does not stand primarily for athletics and physical training, it places this department on a high plane because of its importance in the development of all other factors of human making.

Much rivalry is shown each year in the gym league teams which are organized from the gym classes and which play a series of games. The leagues this year were captained by Paul Stayer, Luther Hoffman, Glenn Cunningham, and Kersey Mierley. The picture of the winning gym team is shown. This team was captained by Paul Stayer.

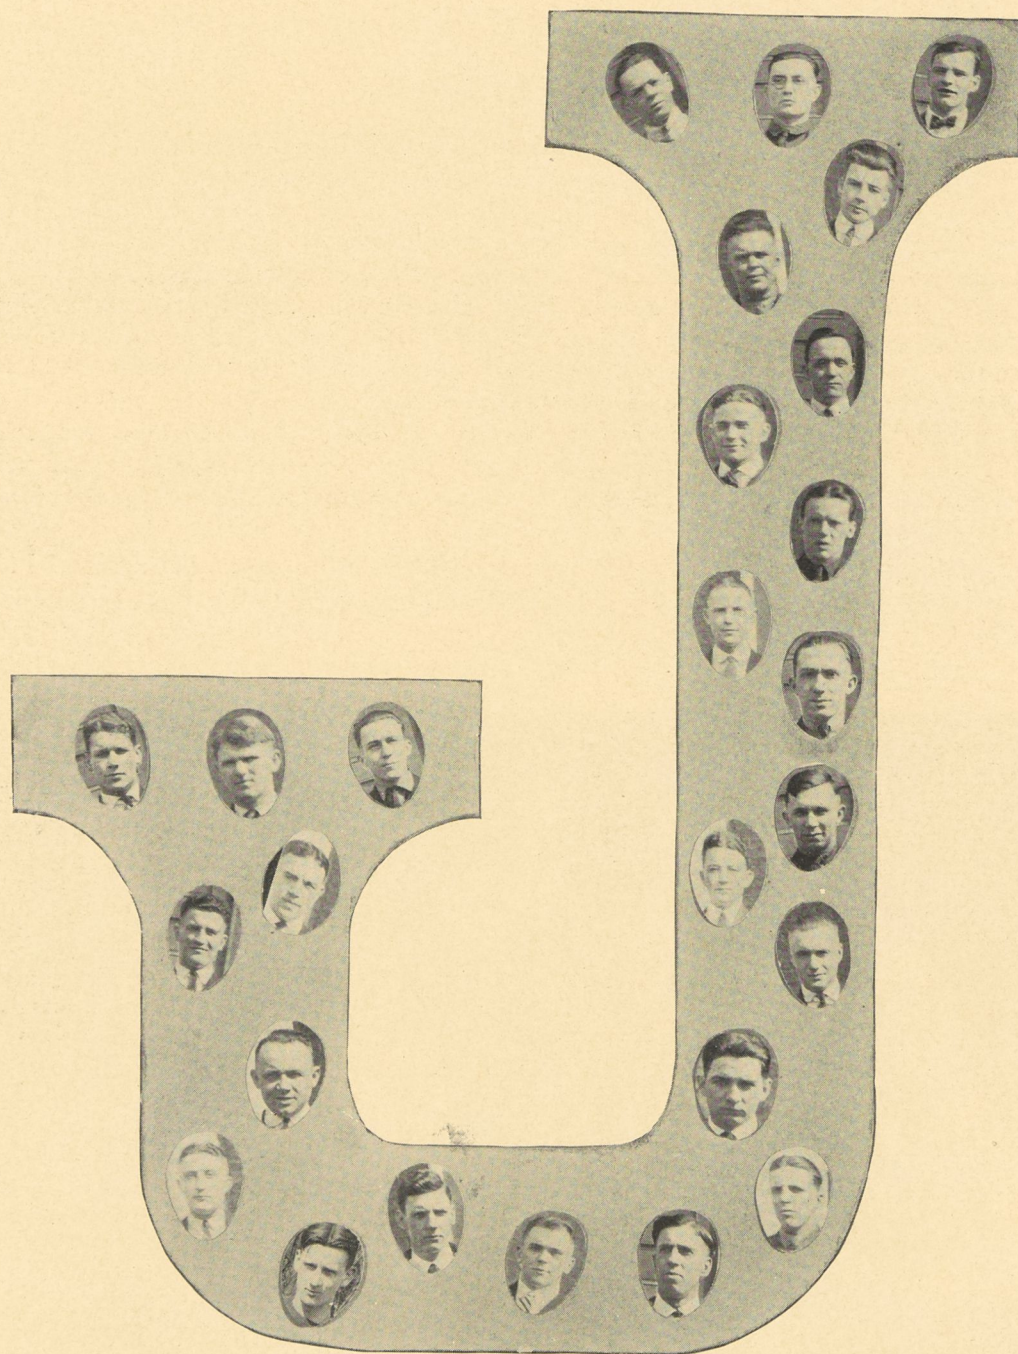

Girls' Athletics

The girls of Juniata have come into their own at last! A great forward step has been taken in girls' athletics this year, which will cause 1921-22 to go down in history of the college as marking the beginning of the athletic emancipation of Juniata's women. A petition for intercollegiate basketball was drawn up by the girls and submitted to the faculty. Interesting is the fact that it was granted the same day as presented. Practices were then held three times a week, under the efficient direction of Coach Kichline. Many of the co-eds worked very hard striving to make the first girls' basketball team of Juniata College. On account of beginning so late in the season, the girls found it difficult to arrange a large schedule. Two games with Mt. Union High School were played, however, and though both were lost, the work of the girls was highly commendable. But these losses did not decrease the enthusiasm of the girls and practice continued regularly, even though they had to face the fact that their Gettysburg game was cancelled. If hard work makes for success, we are expecting a most interesting and successful series of games from the girls next year.

Coach Kichline also has charge of the girls' gym classes which meet twice a week. In this class a thorough drill in calisthenics is given, and the work has been very much enjoyed by all who attend.
